MORROW RACE CARRIES NEW PARTY ISSUES

G. O. P. Faces Prospects Of Split In Number Of Northern States

ALSO HITS DEMOCRATS

Members Of Present Minority Party To Argue For Dry Law Repeal

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1930 by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—(CFA)—The national significance of Dwight Morrow's nomination for the United States senate is being exaggerated in many quarters but there are nevertheless underlying reasons why his triumph at the polls may be accepted as a point of departure in national politics. The principal effects are these:

First, the Republican party in the northern states is faced with a critical division in its ranks which may cost it many seats in congress next autumn, because the drys undoubtedly will put up independent candidates in several contests to draw dry Republican votes. This happened when former Senator Wadsworth was beaten in New York state.

Second, the Democratic party which, with fear and trepidation, made prohibition an issue in 1928, will be compelled to go further than it did two years ago and in the northern states, at least, the candidates will argue for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Third, the national prohibition situation cannot be said to have undergone much change, as New Jersey has always been a wet state and Senator Edge, Republican, who recently retired from the senate to become ambassador to France, was one of the leading wets in congress. There has never been any doubt about the wetness of New Jersey. When Kansas, Iowa, Montana or Washington send wet candidates to congress, it will be possible to record an important change.

PERSONALITIES EMPHASIZED

Fourth, the importance of personalities rather than issues may be said to have been emphasized in the New Jersey primary, thus accentuating a trend noticeable in the last ten years in American politics. Mr. Morrow was easily the most outstanding figure in all the state primaries and it was natural that this prestige should give him a large vote, just as in 1928 Mr. Hoover's prestige in New Jersey gave him a landslide over Gov. Al Smith—and Mr. Hoover, it will be recalled, upheld the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law. There are further suggestions that Mr. Smith had other handicaps, but certainly New Jersey was just as wet in 1928 as in 1930. But the defeat of Al Smith occurred nevertheless. The campaigns unquestionably turned on personalities rather than issues. Mr. Morrow would have won New Jersey or any platform because of his distinguished career, and when the Democratic nominee in the United States senate opposes him in the fall there will be no wet and dry issue because Alexander Simpson, Democrat, is just as wet as Mr. Morrow.

Fifth, the White House is following a recently announced principle in deciding to allow Republican candidates in the various states to handle prohibition as they think best. In other words, endorsement of a Republican nominee is being given for party reasons; to cause there to come up in the next six years besides prohibition, President Hoover wants a Republican congress and his pledge of support to Mr. Morrow had been fully expected. It does not carry with it, however, any significance on prohibition.

Such a stir has been caused by the Morrow victory that it will stimulate the wets in their drive to persuade President Hoover that the time has come for him to learn toward the wet side. It depends, however, on what is the wet side. Opinion has not yet crystallized on a substitute for the eighteenth amendment for the Volstead law, but undoubtedly by the time the 1932 election comes around there will be such a crystallization in both parties, though the difficulties of the Republicans will continue to be increased in national conventions until the western states experience a change of heart.

HUNT MISSING GIRLS IN WASHINGTON STATE

Yakima, Wash.—(AP)—A search-party today hunted Evelyn Craik, 17, Yakima girl, who has been lost in the upper reaches of the Snake river valley near here since Tuesday. Sheriff's deputies believe the girls were nearly exhausted from exposure and hunger. Rain fell in the mountains last night after an electrical storm.

Recall Plea Brings Fight In Detroit

Detroit—(AP)—Mayor Charles Bowles, through his chief supporter, John Gillespie, commissioner of public works, today prepared to fight the movement for his recall.

Recall petitions bearing 111,270 signatures filed yesterday, are being checked at the city clerk's office by a special force of clerks. Reports today were that nearly 20,000 names had been checked and more than 4,000 of this number ruled out for one error or another. To be successful the recall movement must have 89,470 valid names.

Gillespie announced he would go to the circuit court and ask for a restraining order stopping the check of the recall petitions in the city clerk's office.

The check up of the signatures is being made by Oakley E. Distin, supervisor of elections. Last night the work was interrupted by the arrival of Gillespie and Frank H. Dohany, street railway commissioner, with a request to take some of the petitions away for photostating. Distin refused to let the petitions leave the office.

Mayor Bowles characterized the filing of the petition as "the most contemptible, cowardly and despicable thing that has ever come to my attention," and "a conspiracy on the part of certain selfish individuals to discredit me and to remove me from office so that their own selfish interests may be served."

Gillespie, a former police commissioner, figures largely in the charges contained in the recall petition. It is alleged that the mayor gave him official direction of public garbage disposal despite Gillespie's "long private monopoly of that business."

Other charges in the petition refer to dismissal of faithful employees, "substitution of secrecy for frankness in public affairs," tolerance of "lawlessness by law enforcing agencies," manipulation of patronage and public funds to weld a potent machine and threats at the success of municipal ownership of the street car system by attempts to raise fares and the discharge of Frank Couzens as street railway commissioner.

8 NORTHWESTERN STATES FIGHT RAIL UNIFICATION

Washington—(AP)—Representatives of eight northwest states opposed to the unification of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads met today and condemned the revised Couzens resolution which would not interfere with the proposed consolidation.

As adopted by the senate, the resolution would have prevented the consolidation pending further legislation on railroad mergers.

Representative Knutson, Republican, Minnesota, who called the meeting, said he had been informed this morning that the Couzens resolution had been introduced in the senate. He said no definite suggestion of filibuster had been made but added if the northwest members joined those wishing action on veterans legislation and restrictive immigration, "congress will probably remain in session all summer."

IDAHO RUM REBELLION CASE NEARING CLOSE

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho—(AP)—Only arguments and federal Judge McNary's instructions remained today before the Wallace "rum rebellion" case, involving 32 defendants, could be given the jury.

With startling suddenness Harry H. Parsons, attorney for a group of defendants, yesterday announced he would not attempt to refute the charge Mayor Herman Rossi of Wallace; former Mayor W. H. Herick, Chief of Police W. J. Bailey, Sheriff R. E. Wenger and others conspired to make Wallace a "wide open" town.

Government witnesses testified the officials permitted liquor, vice and gambling and collected tribute under the guise of fines using the money to bolster the city's finances.

BOBBY TAKES TOTAL OF 291 FOR 72 HOLES

Diegel And Smith In Tie For Second Place—Each Has 293 Strokes

Haylake, Eng.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, the greatest golfer of all times, matched an all-American challenge today to win the British open championship for the third time. Weakening in the final 36 holes of the classic tourney, the Atlanta genius added rounds of 74 and 75 to his two day total of 141 to card a 72 hole total of 291.

Although Bobby staggered in the stretch he was still too good for the American professionals who pressed the hind chase to the finish after Archie Compston, Great Britain's plant pro, blew up on the final eighteen. Diegel and Smith, the latter for a time almost unnoticed, came home in a final tie for second place, each with 293 strokes. Compston, third, had 295.

JONES' RECORD

Three times winner of the United States open—1923, 1926, 1929.

Four times winner U. S. amateur championship—1924, 1925, 1927, 1928.

Three times winner of the British open—1926, 1927, 1930.

British amateur champion 1930.

Now holds three major titles, first man in the history of golf to do so.

Only man ever to hold the open championships of both Great Britain and the United States, doing so twice—1926 and 1930.

First since John Ball in 1890 to win both British amateur and British open in the same year.

After breaking the course record with a 68 in the morning to lead Jones by a stroke, shot a disastrous 82 in the afternoon for a 297 total that left him in the ruck.

One of the greatest throngs in the history of tournament play fought through the wind and rain as first Campston, then Diegel and Smith, their desperate bids for gold, fought Jones' fine 71 in the morning. Left him a grand chance in the afternoon but Lee could not better than 35, two over par, going out for the last time and 37, one over par coming in for a score of 75. This was as well as Jones did in his fourth round but Bobby started leading Diegel two strokes.

BAD SECOND ROUND

Smith's bid came late. The veteran New York professional had a fair 75 in the morning and a great 71 in the afternoon, but his margin of defeat was represented in a bad second round when he scored a 77 after getting away with a brilliant 70 in the first day's play.

Bobby was saved by his sub par performance in the first two rounds when he scored 70-72. He appeared tired today as shown by his rounds consistently above par. In the morning he grouped two 37s for a 74, two over par, and in the afternoon took 38 strokes for the first nine and 37 for the second for a total of 75. His morning card was marred by six at the third hole and in the afternoon he held out the eight in a black seven, the first even the champion of champions ever carded in a British title event.

Today's victory made Jones open champion of two countries, the

VATICAN ISSUES REPLY IN MALTA CONTROVERSY

Vatican City—(AP)—A "White Book" which the Vatican will issue tomorrow declares that Lord Strickland, premier of Malta, is the chief cause of all the religious difficulties in the island of Malta.

Present troubles in Malta cannot cease, the "White Book" will say, until the British government deals effectively with the cause of it.

"The White Book" is an answer to a "Blue book" on the same subject issued by the British government a fortnight ago.

FINANCE MINISTER IN GERMANY RESIGNS

Berlin—(AP)—President von Hindenburg today accepted the resignation of Dr. Muidenhauer, minister of finance. The president asked Premier Brüning to take over the functions of the finance office pending developments.

Flood Of Invitations For Summer Reaches President

But Hoover Insists No Itinerary Will Be Arranged Until Congress Quits

Washington—(AP)—To a virtual deluge of invitations to visit almost every state and many cities west of the Mississippi river on his trip this summer, President Hoover, constantly and placidly, gives the same answer:

No itinerary is being considered until congress is ready to adjourn. Senators, congressmen, governors, mayors, national committeemen, chambers of commerce, and individuals have pleaded—many of them in person—with the chief executive to visit the particular locality in which they are interested.

He has been invited to fish, to speak, to parade, to banquet, to rest and confer from Chicago to Dallas, and from Kansas City to Tacoma.

The president expects to leave the capital late in July, to be gone five or six weeks.

He will pass through Minneapolis and start his tour of the Rocky Mountain National parks at Glacier park, near the Canadian border, stopping there to fish for about a week. The longest halt proposed for the entire journey of five or six thousand miles.

After that the itinerary is unknown even to the chief executive except that he expects to make the return trip across the continent by the southern route, probably touring Grand Canyon park and passing through Texas with one or more stops in that state.

In the latest discussions of the trip at the White House, California also is being excluded. The Hoover home at Palo Alto recently has been leased, and it was said that the revised route as finally drafted also may exclude Yosemite park. Both may be reinstated in the final route, however.

PRISONER AT WAUPUN FACING MURDER TRIAL

Waupun—(AP)—Doka Evans, serving a 10 to 20-year sentence in state prison here for assault with intent to murder, in Milwaukee, will be charged with first degree murder in Juneau tomorrow for the death of George Ehlers, fellow prisoner.

He and Ehlers fought June 11 over the amount of work each was doing toward unloading coal at the pier. Evans will be charged with striking Ehlers off the pier, over the coal, and onto the sidewalk in an effort to avoid a collision. Then Evans drove into a filling station and smashed one of the lights on his car when he struck the side. He then started down Wisconsin-ave and was picked up by Gus Herskorn, motorcycle officer, who found him driving from one side of the road to the other.

FEAR HONEYMOONERS DEAD IN WILDERNESS

Vanderhoof, B. C.—(AP)—Canadian police have predicted death near the Arctic divide for William B. Albee, 23, Glendale, Calif., and his bride, who went into the wilderness several days ago, seeking adventure.

The Albees, of slight physique and unaccustomed to the perils of the north, entered the wilderness over the protests of frontier warden and trappers, carrying only a small store of provisions.

The couple was enroute to Fairbanks, Alaska, on a hiking tour around the world and intended spending the winter there. They disregarded suggestions of the police to follow the telegraph trail.

The only hope for the missing couple, said W. F. Manson of the department of Indian affairs, would be rescue by an airplane expedition.

Made 15 Million In Stocks, Near Collapse After Crash

New York—(AP)—Harold Russell Ryder, credited with having run a shoe string to $15,000,000 by trading on the New York Stock exchange, was reported near collapse today as a county grand jury began an investigation of the brokerage firm of which he was a member.

The brokerage firm, Woody and Company, was suspended yesterday by the exchange, Eugene L. Gurry, counsel for creditors, said an audit of the books indicated liabilities of $3,000,000 and assets of not over $500,000.

Friends told of a drug-to-day boy transformation in Ryder. For years he lived in unpretentious Brooklyn apartment, quietly and humbly.

ANOTHER MAN SHOT DOWN BY MAD ASSASSIN

Brooklyn Insurance Broker Critically Wounded As He Sits In Auto

Philadelphia—(AP)—New York and Philadelphia detectives today arrested a man on suspicion of being connected with the man slaying in New York.

The man who gave his name as Joseph Clark, 34, of Brooklyn, was arrested in a rooming house on X-Tenth-st., near Girard-ave.

Police said he was arrested on information furnished by his mother, Mrs. Louise Clark. He is said to have escaped from the Greenwald State hospital, Queensco, N. Y., last June.

DRUNKEN DRIVER GETS HEAVY FINE

Must Spend Two Months In County Jail Because Of Past Record

One of the heaviest sentences imposed here in a drunken driving case was given John Lamers, Little Chute, by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning.

Lamers was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to two months in the county jail, and will have his driver's license revoked for six months.

If he does not pay the $100 he must spend an additional two months in the county jail.

Judge Berg, in imposing the heavy sentence, said that he was prompted by Lamers' past record. Just a week ago he was fined $10 and costs for reckless driving, after being arrested by County Motor Vehicle Officer Andrew Miller. Less than a year ago Lamers appeared before Judge Berg, in November, 1929, and paid $10 and costs for drunkenness.

The arrest of Lamers followed his being taken down Wisconsin-ave about 9:30 Thursday night when he crowded motorists off the road, over the curb and onto the sidewalk in an effort to avoid a collision. Then Lamers drove into a filling station and smashed one of the lights on his car when he struck the side. He then started down Wisconsin-ave and was picked up by Gus Herskorn, motorcycle officer, who found him driving from one side of the road to the other.

STOCK PRICES IN NEW SHARP DOWNWARD MOVE

New York—(AP)—Share prices fell back $2 to $14 a share on the New York Stock exchange today, cancelling much of yesterday's gains. Renewed bear selling was attracted by the violent upswing yesterday, and another sharp break in the Chicago wheat market was distinctly unsettling.

The cut in the New York real-estate count rate to 2 1/2 per cent, the lowest history, and the drop of $211,000 in broker's loans, caused a vigorous upturn in share prices as the market opened, but selling appeared in large volume throughout the morning and early afternoon. During the afternoon the list rallied moderately at times, but closing prices were close to the day's lowest.

THREE MEN ARE FOUND MURDERED IN GEORGIA

Rockmart, Ga.—(AP)—The slaying and stabbing of three young men "taken for a ride" in a one horse wagon was being investigated by police here today on the theory that they were the victims of a gambling racket.

Bill Huey and his son Fred were held on suspicion while Coroner H. H. Leonard ordered an inquest over the mutilated bodies of Cliff Jones, Lige Harper, and Ernest McCoultough. Other arrests were expected.

The bodies were found late yesterday in a dry well in a lilly, uninhabited section about six miles east of here by Alonzo Sorrell while he was hunting bee trees. He first saw articles of clothing and bloody stains near the well, then found the corpses stacked in its depths. Further investigation revealed a long trail of blood, the hoofprints of a horse, and the wheelmarks of a small farm wagon such as is used in this section.

HANTSCH REELECTED SECRETARY OF CLERKS

Racine—(AP)—Henry W. Timmer, Hantsch, today was elected president of the Wisconsin County Clerks association, and La Crosse was chosen for the 1931 convention. The election was held June 17, 18 and 19.

Harold J. Neville, Green Bay, was elected vice president; John E. A. Hantsch, Appleton, was re-elected secretary, and E. H. Kuhlmann, Waupun, re-elected treasurer.

New Victim Claimed By Gang's Guns

Chicago—(AP)—The rule of the gun was not ended.

The body of Lorenzo Juliano, still today by gun slugs, gave mute retort today to the proclamation of Chicago's united law enforcement bodies that crimes of violence shall stop.

Possessor of an unsavory reputation as a bomber, gunman and big shot of an alcohol syndicate, Juliano was found shot to death in an automobile in a Blue Island junk heap. His killers had wrapped the body in blankets and run the car down a railway embankment in the southern suburbs, one of the hot spots of Chicago's girdle.

His death, the first recurrence of gang retribution since the assassination 11 days ago of Alfred "Jack" Lunsdale, Tribune reporter, recalled his implication in the bombings before the 1928 primary of the Chicago homes of Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, now state's attorney.

Eleven sticks of dynamite were found in Juliano's home at that time, but his arrest was followed by no prosecution.

Three years ago he was indicted with 38 others by federal grand juries at Indianapolis charged with shipping alcohol between the Indiana capital and Chicago.

START INVESTIGATION

His conviction fell outside the jurisdiction of a federal grand jury.

John H. Alcock of the Chicago police, but immediate investigation was begun by former Herman M. Dandeson and State's Attorney Swanson. The man whose home he was once arrested for harboring, Juliano's police record for the last three years included suspicion of crime, murder and a green bombing.

Juliano was a reputed hanger-on of Al "Sonny" the boss of a ring of alcohol distilling operations in the south side suburbs and Indianapolis, and his business was understood as to encourage the bootlegging. He had a reputation of being a "hot shot" in the underworld.

Alcock, acting commissioner of the police, said he had not heard of the death of the victim until he was informed today by the reorganization of his force and conferred with E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator.

The conference resulted in an agreement that all liquor cases developed by the police will be turned over to the government except those involving petty offenders. Alcock announced that evidence obtained last night in a raid at the Vespalie estate, where $5,000 worth of liquor was seized on his orders, would be delivered to the U. S. district attorney for prosecution.

Yellowley and Alcock exchanged promises of full cooperation.

"We had a very satisfactory conference in regard to the law," the prohibition administrator said.

DRY AGENT SHOOTS 2 IN STREET FIGHT

Men Wounded In New Orleans Affray Are Expected To Recover

New Orleans—(AP)—John W. Williams, 27, federal prohibition undercover agent of Washington, D. C., early today shot Stanley Loret, 31, and a Negro, Robert Addison, 24, in an encounter in the city's business district. He was charged with "shooting and wounding."

Loret and Addison were taken to a hospital where attendants said they were expected to recover.

The shooting occurred on Canal-st. between Lloyd and Bourbon-sts. in view of motorists and pedestrians and within a block of a policeman who hurried to the scene when the shots were fired.

Williams said that early yesterday he became involved in a fight with Loret and Williams in a resort which he said Loret operated as a speakeasy. He asserted that the dispute was resumed when Loret threatened him with a knife. He then, he said, that he drew his revolver and fired.

Loret, however, told police that the first altercation occurred when Williams tried to hold up his drink establishment, and the same statement was made by the Negro.

Williams made a report of the shooting to prohibition administrator O. D. Jackson.

Loret's resort, in which the first quarrel occurred was raided yesterday by police, and a quantity of liquor was seized.

TWO MILLION REQUIRED FOR NEW PROJECTS

Citizen's Committee Lays Down 10 Points Under Improvement Plan

WOULD PROVIDE 'START' Favor Removal Of Woman Prisoners To Reformatory At Taycheedah

Madison—(AP)—A plan program asking an immediate appropriation of $2,000,000 for the construction of new prison units, hospital and mental shops was proposed here today by Col. John J. Hannan, president of the board of control, at a meeting of the state's criminal commission on crime and criminal justice.

Recommending the board of Wisconsin's penal and correctional institutions, and urging the executive branches and the legislature to operate on a basis of economy, Col. Hannan laid down the following ten points of the plan to the board and the commission:

1. Removal of prisoners from the state prison at Waupun to a new prison building on the grounds of the Wisconsin State Penitentiary at Taycheedah.

2. Construction of a 1,500-bed hospital unit at the Taycheedah prison, with a separate building for the treatment of mental patients.

3. Replenishment of all shops and work units, including the construction of a new building for the production of clothing and shoes.

4. Construction of a new dining hall and kitchen at the Taycheedah prison.

5. Replenishment of the stock of all the food and supplies at the Taycheedah prison.

6. Construction of a new building for the treatment of mental patients at the Taycheedah prison.

7. Construction of a new building for the treatment of mental patients at the Taycheedah prison.

8. Construction of a new building for the treatment of mental patients at the Taycheedah prison.

9. Construction of a new building for the treatment of mental patients at the Taycheedah prison.

10. Construction of a new building for the treatment of mental patients at the Taycheedah prison.

PRISON LARGE ENOUGH

Col. Hannan declared his belief that the state prison should not be enlarged, that it is sufficient to handle Wisconsin's prison problem provided other facilities are furnished.

The $2,000,000 appropriation asked by the speaker would give prison reform a good start," Col. Hannan said, but would not carry it to completion. He said it was time that the state moved to put its penal and correctional institutions on a "state family table" of appropriations rather than making them live upon what is left after all other state activities have been served.

"From their beginnings these institutions appear to have been regarded as stepchildren of the state government," the colonel said. "Any proposition was limited to a makeshift. With rare exceptions such expansions as were provided were appropriated for only after the needs of all other state activities had been fully met."

"It is necessary now to make a final to educate our people that the present needs represent an accumulation covering many years of short sighted economy."

Col. Hannan effectively demonstrated the size of the problem before the committee by citing figures showing the increases in criminal commitments, the mental and physical caliber of prison populations, the lack of work and the overcrowding.

"The prison intake has grown from 335 in 1921 to 527 in 1929, while the reformatory intake has jumped from 348 to 449 in the same years," the speaker said.

CANT MEET ORDERS

"We know that the great increase in the number of convicted persons is now taking the facilities of our institution to a point where we must violate the law in order to execute the command of the courts," Col. Hannan said. "The courts are in a way responsible for the great influx of criminals into the Wisconsin penitentiary and the other hand have operated to cut down the flood by the use of probation."

Providing work for the inmates of penal and correctional institutions is one of the biggest problems in an effective prison program, Col. Hannan said.

OFF p 2 banner held for release.

"The greatest need for these men is to teach them to do to train them in self-discipline, strengthen them in will power through education in self-sacrifice," he said. "Voluntary training is desirable, but the prime requisite is that they shall turn to page 4 col. 2

70 TONS OF PAPER DROPPED AS CITY WELCOMES PARTY

New York—(P)—This city's welcome to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his crew yesterday was a more 70-ton affair, compared to the 1,800-ton welcome extended Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his return from Paris three years ago. This estimate by Charles S. Hand, superintendent of the city's street cleaning department, was based on the amount of paper swept up in the streets over which the processions passed. The cost of cleaning the streets was estimated at $22,000, which is in addition to the $9,000 appropriated by the city for the official reception.

The state convention will reach its culmination in the Friday afternoon program when two governors, Fred W. Green of Michigan and Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin, arrive in Appleton to take part in the program at Pierce park pavilion. Governor Green is national commander of the Spanish War Veterans and he is coming to the Wisconsin convention despite the fact that there are two other state conventions in sessions on the same days as the Badger meeting.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM PREVENTS SERIOUS BLAZE AT FACTORY

A fire, which threatened the Fox river paper mills about noon Thursday, was prevented from reaching serious proportions by the perfect operation of an automatic sprinkler system, according to Police Chief George F. McGilgan. The blaze started in a rag hopper in the west section of the mill and the flames shot 300 feet through a tube, in which the rags are carried from one mill to the other, into the rag hoppers in the east section of the mill. The sprinkler system kept the flames from spreading outside the hopper and the firemen put out a small fire in a cupola where the sprinkler system is not installed. Only slight damage resulted.

TRANSFUSE FATHER'S BLOOD TO SAVE CHILD

Chicago—(P)—Blood from his father was transfused for the second time into the veins of Kenneth McKittuck early today as a final ploy to save him from the mysterious malady which brought death to a sister and three brothers. Former Deputy Sheriff Is Bound Over To Circuit Court On Statutory Charge

Lothar Kemp, former deputy sheriff under Fred W. Giese, ousted sheriff, was bound over for trial to circuit court in Waupaca on a statutory charge following preliminary hearing of the case in court before Justice S. W. Johnson at Waupaca Thursday afternoon. It is understood that the $1,000 bond, which Kemp furnished following his arraignment on the charge last week, was allowed to stand. ## BIBLE SCHOOLS, CONVENTIONS IN CHURCH SPOTLIGHT

Rev. E. Hassenblad, Appleton, Vice President Of Ministerial Group

The opening of the First Baptist Vacation Bible school on Monday, and the usual number of summer church conventions were the outstanding activities in Appleton church circles this week. The Baptist Bible school is the third to be held in Appleton this summer, the other two opened last week. The Presbyterians and Methodists are cooperating in a school at the Methodist church, and the Congregationalists are conducting a non-denominational school at their church.

The Rev. L. Hasselblad, pastor of First Baptist church, was elected vice president of the State Ministerial association at a convention held at Fond du Lac, and Robert Lads was named president of the State Baptist Young People's Union. The Rev. R. L. Ziesemer, the Rev. Phillip Froehke, the Rev. T. M. Brandt, and the Rev. T. J. Sauer are attending a district meeting of the Wisconsin synod at Algona this week. The Rev. L. D. Bosseman of Trinity English Lutheran church is attending a synodical meeting at Red Wing, Minn. After the meeting he will go on his annual vacation. The Rev. C. D. Flutz of Neenah will have charge of services during his absence.

The last service of the summer was held at the German Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday. Difficulty in supplying the pulpit, which during the winter was in charge of a Lawrence college student, Lyle Stephenson, necessitated the discontinuance of services.

No services were held at First Reformed church last Sunday, as the pastor, the Rev. E. F. Franz,

FITTS PROMISED TO GET LENIENCY, SANHUBER CLAIMS

Defense Council Demands Prosecutor Testify About His Statement

Los Angeles—(P)—Defense charges that District Attorney Burton Fitts promised leniency to Otto Sanhuber if the latter would repeat to the grand jury his confession of the slaying of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy manufacturer, today uninvited Sanhuber's trial for murder. Fitts was expected to answer the charges, which were made by Earl Wakeman of counsel for Sanhuber. The trial was halted yesterday when Wakeman, in an effort to exclude Sanhuber's grand jury testimony, demanded Fitts be called to testify regarding Sanhuber's statement his grand jury confession was made under duress. Sanhuber previously had testified Fitts promised to "save my neck" in exchange for the grand jury testimony.

Wakeman declared Fitts had expressed "lively feeling toward Sanhuber," and said the district attorney promised he "would see that the man spent not more than five years in the penitentiary if he would plead guilty." Sanhuber confessed he shot and killed Oesterreich in the manufacturer's home here in 1922. Sanhuber admittedly had lived for years in attics of the various Oesterreich homes in order to be near Mrs. Oesterreich. Mrs. Oesterreich was indicted on a separate charge and will be tried here next month.

Breeders Listen To Experts At Convention Here

BARRAGE OF QUERIES GO TO SPEAKERS

250 Attending Annual Meeting Of Wisconsin Association

Swinging into the second day of the eighth annual Wisconsin Fox and Fur Breeder's convention here, the delegates, whose registration now totals about 250, are assimilating the addresses and firing questions at the experts gathered from all over the United States.

Outstanding personalities, that have become familiar to all attendees in the first two sessions, are the general E. A. Eben, secretary of the association, who is here, there, and everywhere keeping the program progressing in the smooth, orderly fashion that has characterized it thus far; Dr. L. J. O'Reilly, president of the group, who keeps the program on schedule to the dot; Dr. Moore, Cadillac, Mich., president of the Michigan association; Dr. S. F. Wadsworth, Boston, who in a concise, eastern accent, enters into discussions with much pertinent advice.

George Tuttle, South Ryegate, N.Y., addressed the meeting on Polygamism Males, and also upheld Dr. Wadsworth in the discussion against pill-pulling foxes, presented by John Chastek, of Glencoe, Minn. In the Mink division the meetings have been largely dominated by the personalities of Dr. James Freer, Wayzata, Minn., and Dr. H. R. Hopkins, secretary of the Mink division.

Tested in afternoon session with the Fox breeders, John Chastek, with A Few Practical Points on the Breeding, Feeding and Pilling of Foxes, evolved eventually into a free discussion of the latter point. Mr. Chastek upheld pilling at the 21st day. He was opposed, in a friendly manner by George Tuttle who had used a liquid worm treatment which he felt to be far superior, though he said he did not use it indiscriminately with all his pups. Dr. Wadsworth also sided with Tuttle on the avoidance of pilling, feeling that did not absolutely need it. A vote revealed that a small minority used the worm treatment on a regular schedule.

Dr. S. F. Wadsworth presented many practical suggestions drawn from long experience with fox breeding and raising, and gave particular emphasis to the problem of over-feeding foxes. The afternoon meeting was concluded with the opening of the mink cage chest used as a question. Authorities were drafted from the group to supply the information.

Thursday afternoon the Mink meeting was dominated by Dr. James Freer, Wayzata, Minn., who was already well known to all present by the many articles he has written on the various phases of fur raising, especially the mink problem. He used much of his time to turn the meeting into an analytical clinic, discussing the mixture of commercial food with meat, fish, attempting to find the most efficient mixture. In regard to this conclusion Dr. Freer said:

"From all reports sent to me, the best general results come from the use of 10 to 20 per cent commercial food in the winter, and from 25 to 33 per cent in the summer. I hesitate to draw anything like a final or definite conclusion. I do hope to be able, after the next morning's session, to draw some just conclusion. Personally, I do not think good crops of kittens can be obtained with less than 75 per cent red meat and fish."

This morning the Mink division was addressed by George Winter, popular young mink breeder from Earl, who included in his "Timely Suggestion on the Mink Industry," an extensive survey of the meat and fish storage refrigeration problem, with the most efficient methods constructing and operating freezing chambers.

Joseph Sterling, who was on the program, was unable to attend, and his period was filled by Harry Little who spoke on the Mink registration problem, recently taken up at the National convention held in Milwaukee, June 18. He stressed the necessity of accurate registration if the strongest and best strains of both wild and tame mink were to be developed.

George Tuttle told the Fox breeders of his experience with the use of polygamism males for breeding purposes, explaining the advantage of changing shading to accord with market preferences, and the development of stronger strains with the plan, Charles Beyreys, of Vauquian, veteran breeder also spoke on many practical suggestions he had evolved on his ranch, and illustrated with many interesting anecdotes concerning his foxes.

The regular program was followed through the afternoon sessions, and the two divisions will merge tonight for annual banquet at 7 o'clock to be held at the Conway hotel.

CATCH BLACK BASS IN INLAND LAKES

Black bass fishing opened Friday in all inland lakes and streams in Wisconsin excepting in Green Lake and Green Lake, and such places as have been placed as bass refuges, according to conservation officers.

The season has not yet opened in the outlying waters such as the Fox river north of De Pere, Lake Superior, Lake Michigan and Green Bay, and all bays and harbors of the lakes. The season in these waters opens on July 1. Fish refuges have been established at Idelwild, and on the Door County peninsula where fishing will be permitted July 1.

The bag limit is ten each day, the season length 150 days.

TWO MORE MEN TO BE CANDIDATES IN SHERIFF RACE

Rumor Says A. W. Laabs Will Oppose A. G. Koch For Register Of Deeds

Two more candidates have entered the race for sheriff, making a total of five now in the field.

The new candidates are Barney Hoffman, Appleton, who will seek the Republican nomination, and Martin Verhagen, Kimberly, a Democrat.

Mr. Hoffman, who has been employed at the Interlake Paper mill for the last 14 years is a lifelong resident of the county. Two years ago he was a candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket. He is a member of the pulp makers union and formerly served on the school board here.

Mr. Verhagen was the Democratic candidate for sheriff in the 1928 race. He was nominated from a field of four but was defeated in the final election by Fred W. Glese. Mr. Verhagen served the county as sheriff in 1912 and 1913 and before that he served as under-sheriff under Sheriff Michael Lockery.

The other candidates for sheriff are Otto Zuehlke, Sheriff John Lappen and Fred Glese.

Alfred Bradford, who is a candidate for district attorney on the Republican ticket, secured his nomination papers Thursday from John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Rumors Friday indicated that August W. Laabs, now supervisor from the town of Grand Chute, might oppose A. G. Koch, register of deeds, for the Republican nomination in September. Mr. Laabs, however, has not confirmed the report.

VICINITY SWELTERS AS MERCURY HITS 80

This vicinity Friday withered and sweltered under a blazing hot sun, which sent the mercury skyrocketing to 80 degrees above zero, one of the highest temperatures recorded here this summer.

Not much relief from the torrid spell is on the weather menu for the next 24 hours, but the weatherman says showers may fall occasionally on Saturday. His predictions for the next 24 hours include a little of everything.

Sides will be clear Friday night and the mercury will remain about 70 degrees. Saturday morning skies are supposed to be cloudy, according to the weatherman.

Judging from the direction of the wind and warmer weather will continue to prevail here, as the winds are centered in the west and southwest.

At 6 o'clock Friday morning the mercury registered 58 degrees above zero.

Where Two Were Hurt In Train Wreck

Where the "Ford Special", a fast freight, left the tracks of the Green Bay and Western railway, near New London Wednesday afternoon. It is believed that spreading rails caused the accident. Charles Voss, New London, and Frank Welby, Green Bay are now being treated in a New London Hospital for injuries received when the caboose (on its side in the background) left the track and toppled over the bank. Voss suffered a dislocation of the right hip, and severe body bruises, while Welby is recovering from three fractured ribs, bruised left leg, and cuts above the eye.

Explains Why Anesthetics Result In Unconsciousness

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—Discovery of the reason why anesthetics cause unconsciousness was announced today at Cornell University.

They cause nerve cells to become thick and white, like tiny hardboiled eggs. Oblivion accompanies this change, and consciousness does not return until the cells resume their normal state.

An amazing part of the discovery is that a knockout blow on the head or the coma of narcotics or intoxication all produce similar cell changes. Thus the "kick" in a drink is actually in effect like a physical blow. "Doled," "stewed" and "stiff" are piled to drug and drink effects are more than slang, they are the simple truth about changes invisible to the eye.

The discoveries link together physical states formerly considered quite distinct, and open a new field for developing drug uses.

They were reported to the eighth colloquium symposium by Dr. C. H. Richter, national research fellow at Cornell, who worked under direction of Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft, professor of physical chemistry. They are results of studies in colloid chemistry, one of the newer branches of science.

"Research just completed," said Dr. Richter, "indicates two basic phenomena back of all known types of narcosis or anesthesia. This is reversible coagulation of the cell colloids. This means precipitation of the material, such as is produced in eggs when they are cooked. The phenomenon differs from the coagulation of eggs in that it will return to its original state when the narcotic agent is removed."

"Direct observations with ultra-microscopes have revealed the complete changes in colloidal systems of an organism undergoing narcosis and recovery. These changes were photographed."

"When the organism is heated, cooled, shocked by electricity, treated with alcohol, chloroform or ether, etc., the changes are identical—namely coagulation. This shows that the cause of the loss of sensibility due to heat, coldness, electricity and drugs is one and the same phenomenon. Whenever the coagulation is too extensive or irreversible, then death will result."

JONES AGAIN WINS AT BRITISH OPEN

United States and Great Britain, and the amateur champion of Great Britain. He is the first man to hold the British open and amateur championships at the same time since John Link turned the amazing trick in 1890, long before Jones was born.

HOME TOWN ELATED
Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Bobby Jones' mother and father sat quietly at their home here today and received news of their son's latest victory, but his home town reacted noisily.

News boys were swamped by the crowds who themselves took up the boys' cries of "Bobby Wins." Business was virtually suspended downtown while word of the triumph spread.

Throughout the morning, telephones in newspaper offices were busy. Bobby's friends here admitted they were slightly worried when he dropped behind this morning and when news came that he had forced ahead again the city gave vent to its restrained excitement with cheers.

Robert P. Jones, his father, came to his office early, but slipped quickly away and went home to be with his wife.

"Of course we are very happy and very proud," he said.

His home club—East Lake—received the news of the British open victory from the Associated Press and its members "went wild."

"It's Bob's best year," they said, pointing to his recent triumph in the British amateur.

Jones learned much of his golf at East Lake and in 1923, he won his first national title—the national open.

Since then, he was won at least one major tournament yearly.

APPLETON YOUTH TO BE ORDAINED INTO MINISTRY

Ordination Of Julius H. Kolberg Will Take Place Sunday Morning

Julius H. Kolberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Kolberg, 218 E. Winnebago-st., will be ordained to the office of the Lutheran ministry at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor, will preach an English sermon and Dr. W. D. Ahl, St. Paul, Minn., will speak in German. The Rev. Marth will ordain Candidate Kolberg, assisted by the Rev. Upon his ordination he will leave for Springfield, Minn., where he will be united in marriage to Miss Elnora Hageman of that city. After a trip to Yellowstone Park, the couple will leave for Canada where Mr. Kolberg has accepted a call. He will serve the parish of Brunkild, Manitoba, which includes the towns of Sanford and Starbuck, Manitoba, about 30 miles from Winnipeg.

Mr. Kolberg was a resident of Appleton until he left for St. Paul in 1924.

ACHIEVEMENT DAY PROGRAM ATTRACTS 600 AT GREENVILLE

Home Economics Groups Present Entertainments In Grange Hall

W. F. WINNEY
Greenville.—Six hundred people attended the Achievement Day exercise of the Home Economics groups of Outagamie-co. Thursday in the South Greenville Grange Hall where the various groups entertained with plays, singing, vocal solos, reading, demonstrations, and instrumental music. Other features of the day's program were talks by specialists on their favorite subjects, community singing, and feasting. Among the principal speakers were Mrs. Nellie Kendzie Jones, and Miss Gladys Meloche, both of Wisconsin College of Agriculture, County Agent C. A. Sell, County Superintendent A. G. McArthur, and Miss Harriet Thompson, club leader of Outagamie-co. Miss Meloche led the community singing.

Marjory Culbertson, Ethel Meland, Dolores Anderson, and Ethel Schulke, members of 4-H Club of the Wide Awake school, discussed the necessary equipment and demonstrated first aid to the injured. After describing the equipment the girls bandaged fingers and arms and described their methods. They also demonstrated shoulder supports for injured arms, and carrying patients.

The "Trials of a Married Couple" was presented by Mr. and Mrs. John Knox, for the Seymour group of women.

"Wanted a Wife," played by the Sugar Bush group, was one of the big attractions.

The Shiocton group with instruments collected from the kitchen such as milk pans, dish pans, funnels and graters, pie tins, and bread pans treated the audience to some band music and evolutions on the stage, and one of the members entertained with dancing.

The play, "Intent of the Will," was presented by the Appleton group.

"Across the County" was recited by Mrs. Anna McGinnis and "The Gilligan Speaks" by Mrs. E. Scotten. A reading, "Discovery of America," was offered by Mrs. J. Sherman. A French horn solo was played by Virginia Steffensen. Mrs. A. J. Schultz, Hortonville, entertained with the vocal solo, "Home and Juliet."

Miss Meloche talked on "Foot Clothing for All Ages."

As a guide to the size of shoe required by a child, Miss Meloche showed her audience how to draw the pattern of a foot on paper to get the proper width and length, and said that the sole of a shoe should be 2 of an inch longer and wider than the pattern of the foot. Room should be left in the shoe for the growth of the foot also.

Declaring that in no year or two home would be no building large enough in Outagamie-co. to accommodate meetings of women's Home Economics clubs, Mrs. Jones advised her audience to get busy with the county board of supervisors and to find out what could be done about the erection of a women's building in the county.

PRAISES COUNTY WOMEN
Mrs. Jones declared that she was highly pleased with the large number of women attending the Achievement Day exercises and with the character and amount of work that the rural women have done the present year.

She selected for the subject of her talk, "Putting First Things First," and by that she meant that a person should do the most important thing first and so on through the day and week.

The speaker said that sometimes the first thing for a woman to do is to rest, get fresh air, take care of her health or to attend a meeting. She said it is easy to decide the order in which the daily work should be done and that it is often wise for a woman to leave the dishes, brooms and mops to have a good time.

Mr. Sell talked on "Beautifying the Home Grounds" with Trees, Shrubs and Flowers.

Sometimes people object to beautifying the farm yard for fear the cost will be too great. This is a mistake, according to Mr. Sell, as many of the trees, bushes and flowers may be gotten in the woods and a part of the work may be done one year, a part the second year, and a part the third year. An expenditure of $15 a year on cultivated trees, shrubs and flowers would be money enough to spend on the farm home, beautifying project, according to Mr. Sell.

Mr. Meating told the story of planning the Washington, D. C., trip of the Outagamie-co. school children and of how the people and children cooperated with him in the project.

Ed Gerharz, office secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will leave Monday on a two week's vacation. He is the first of the association secretaries and employees to take their vacation.

BIRTHS
A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cotter, 1818 E. Newberry-st., at St. Elizabeth hospital Friday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman, route 3, Appleton, Thursday.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Two marriage licenses were issued Friday by John P. Hantschel, county clerk. They were given to the following couples: Arthur A. Wyro, Kaukauna, and Alma Joosten, Little Chute; Lawrence Weiss, Sunnyside View sanatorium, Winnebago, and Catherine Fox, Kaukauna.

New Program Mapped Out For Wisconsin Prisons

be the discipline of labor which has a definite, useful objective."

In conjunction with a program of industry for inmates should go the payment of wages, Col. Hannan said. He urged the creation of a fund out of which support might be given to the families of the prisoners, thus cutting down the appropriations necessary for the mother's pension law for the aid of dependent children.

The program proposed by Col. Hannan was termed, by its author, a program that is fitted to give effect in Wisconsin to the modern ideas of segregating and studying and treating the committed criminal so as to insure the greatest return to the state in salvaged men."

PROGRAM NOT VISIONARY
"It is not a visionary program," he said. "It is grounded in experience. It calls for new capital investment but that it what every business must do to lower costs and meet new conditions."

"Some object to the open type of prison, where men may be rehabilitated outside of the wall in the bright sunlight, breathing the pure air of rural environment, working regular hours, living a routine life. Some call it a mollycoddling device but I say that it is not so. The state has no desire to inflict punishments other than the punishment to work and labor solely for one's own benefit. It does demand that these men shall pay the penalty, but that penalty by our statute is deprivation of liberty and hard labor. This program provides for these things under conditions that will help to build the man."

Col. Hannan said his program was not Utopian, that it was capable of execution. He told the committee that even though improvements be made, the state will always maintain the "Bastille" type of prison. Of every prison group there are some who will always be unmanageable and unadjusted men, he said.

"But with a program, such as was outlined," he said, "we bridge the chasm between a dark past and a bright future. We modernize our facilities and we bring them into line with the best and the most practical ideas of prison management."

The Riese boy, 17 years old, visited Griesbach's place in September, 1929, and purchased a pint of alleged moonshine from Griesbach, the complaint alleges. With Riese were two other Black Creek boys, 15 and 16 years old. The Riese boy took the first drink from the bottle and it is claimed that the poisonous portion of the liquid had remained on the top. The other boys took drinks after him but were not affected.

The next day, according to the complaint, the boy's eyesight was impaired and he was taken to doctor who said they could do nothing for him. Then he was taken to a specialist in Appleton and after spending a week in the hospital the blindness was averted. The specialist claims, however, according to the complaint, that this blindness may recur at any time. The suit is brought by Mr. Riese as the guardian of the boy.

Griesbach, in his answer denies he sold the liquor to the boys and he also denies any knowledge of any of the other allegations in the complaint.

It is expected the case will be placed on the calendar for trial the latter part of this month.

SIX CONGRESSMEN ARE REPORTED ILL
But House Membership In Better Condition Than At Last Term's Close

Washington (AP)—Approaching congressional adjournment found half a dozen representatives suffering from illness today and unable to fill their seats in the house.

Despite one of the most strenuous sessions in recent years, however, the membership of the house generally was in a better state of health than during the closing days of the last session, when more than a dozen representatives were seriously ill.

Representatives Porter of Pennsylvania, and Vingo of Arkansas, were reported recovering today after critical illnesses. The latter underwent operation, while Porter was rushed to a Pittsburgh hospital recently, seriously ill.

Representative James of Michigan, suffering from ulcers of the stomach, was reported by his secretary to have left his hospital bed, but was not expected back in his office this session. Representatives Johnson of Illinois, and Underhill of Massachusetts, likewise have been able to leave their hospital rooms and both may return to the house before the session closes.

Representative Curry of California, was reported improving steadily after treatment at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, while Representative Vincent of Michigan, has just returned to his office after treatment at the Naval hospital here.

BEG PARDON
Custody of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Wennemann, who were divorced in municipal court Thursday, was awarded to Mrs. Mary Wennemann, mother of the defendant, and not to the wife, who secured the divorce, as was stated in Thursday's Post-Crescent. The judge decided that the child was to remain in the grandmother's custody until it is old enough to choose its future home.

HUGE ALL-METAL AIRSHIP PLANNED FOR ARMY CORPS

Ship Would Have Speed Of
100 Miles An Hour, Gross
Lift Of 100 Tons

Washington—A big brother of the world's first metal-clad airship, the navy's "flying tomato can," is proposed for the army air corps.

Authorization to construct the giant, a ship with a speed of 100 miles an hour and gross lift of 100 tons, is sought in congressional bills introduced by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan, and Representative Florence Kahn, California.

The all-metal dirigible would be 17 times as large as the experimental navy ship ZMC-2, first flown last August, would outspeed any existing airship and be larger than the Graf Zeppelin.

Its cost would be limited by the bill to $4,500,000. While planned primarily as a transport ship, the measures would provide for the secretary of war to lease it to private parties for commercial demonstration.

Appearing before the house military affairs committee, Carl Fritzsche, president of the aircraft development corporation, which built the naval metal-clad, said the proposed ship could fly non-stop from Washington to Panama in 40 hours with a military load of 40,000 pounds.

As an outgrowth of the navy experiment, it would be constructed with a skin of metal strips as thin as a postal card "sewn" together around a framework with seams welded to prevent the escape of helium.

For army purposes it is proposed

What Scientists Are Learning Food Element Revealed As Poison To Kidneys

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(AP)—Cystine, a little known food element in proteins, shown in some unusual experiments at the University of Michigan, how healthful food may be made deadly poison.

This substance is white and crystalline, one of the amino acids in meats and other protein foods. It has been fed to rats by Prof. L. H. Newburgh, in the study causes of nephritis, a disease of the kidneys.

He found, as did Lafayette Mendel, that it is a necessity to health of the rats. An insufficiency did harm to them. But it could also be lethal poison, and its good and bad effects depended altogether on the amount eaten.

When it was reduced to three parts in ten thousand of the diet, the rats failed to grow well. Twice to make the ship available for reconnaissance, mapping, quick transport of staff headquarters and military supplies, and for bombing raids.

If construction is authorized, Fritzsche said, it would take two and one-half years to build the monster and in another year and at a cost of $5,500,000 a duplicate could be available.

The navy metal-clad cost $750,000 and has a maximum speed of 70 miles an hour and a cruising speed of 52 miles an hour. Where the proposed dirigible would carry 50 passengers and cargo, the navy ship carries a crew of three and has provision for a 707-pound load of passengers and cargo.

that amount was just right for health.

It became harmful when increased to six to ten parts in one thousand; at five per cent it was poison; at 10 it killed rats in a few days; and at 20 was quick death.

Professor Newburgh sought the substances in proteins and the amounts that may cause nephritis. "It may be difficult," he said, "to believe that an essential foodstuff is capable of damaging the kidney."

Yet he concluded that precisely this can happen. The length of time is also important, and the amino acids vary in effects.

Professor Newburgh points out that the character of proteins differ in casein, beef muscle, beef liver, and seeds of cereals and vegetables. These characters are more important than concentration or length of feeding.

"COSMIC FOG" IS SUN'S
CORONA, OHIO THINKS

Delaware, O.—(AP)—"Cosmic fog," huge, irregular masses believed to be gas, is believed by Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins observatory here, to be the foundation of the sun's corona.

Dr. Stetson is endeavoring to determine how close the "fog" approaches the earth.

The sun's corona, he thinks, is the light reflected from a cloud of dust particles which then become visible.

SCIENCE EXPLAINS MENTAL CLOCKWORK

When Sleep Comes, Sleeper
Is Divided Into Three Or Four Persons

Washington—(AP)—When a person goes to bed with his mind fixed on getting up at a certain time the next morning he often awakes at that time without the aid of an alarm clock.

This is one of the mysteries of sleep explained by Dr. Otto Kauders, Austrian psychiatrist.

When sleep comes, Dr. Kauders says, the sleeper is divided into three or four persons.

There is the waking ego, the dream ego, and the sleep ego. The dream ego is semi-conscious with a sort of uncontrolled contact with the outside world which results in weird images, lovely dreams and horrible nightmares.

But the first like a sentry, stays awake and keeps watch.

It challenges all stimuli coming to the brain and if any of them look suspicious it warns the dreamer and awakens the sleeper whereupon all three become one person again, ready to fight or run.

Before splitting up for the night, Dr. Kauders says the whole personality, acting as camp commander, gives the sentries their special orders. Such would be the order to awaken the others at a certain time.

STATESMEN AND ADMIRALS
The admirals have had their say about the London naval treaty, and the indications are that in spite of them the treaty is going to be ratified by the senate as it has already been ratified by public opinion. The naval experts have done their duty as they see it. Perhaps it is to be expected that they should see such a problem only as a technical one, to be discussed in terms of ship tonnage and guns and classes of fighting craft. They are fighting men; that is their business. They know the technical side of war as a metallurgist knows steel, as a chemist knows acids. But they may not know the psychology and statesmanship of war. And these latter factors are probably greater than the factor they recognize in the London treaty.

Even technically, it is hard for a non-expert but intelligent citizen to see what the United States has to fear. It is raised up to naval parity with Britain, which has hitherto dominated the sea, and is kept safely above Japan in fighting ratio. As matters stand, each of these three naval powers should be able to look after its own interests, remaining impregnable in its home waters but lacking the extra power required for invasion of the other powers. Is this not as it should be? It is, if we are content, as we say we are, with self-defense, and seek no aggression.

But above all such technical considerations stands the big fact that what we are after is not so much to win a theoretical war as to forestall the actual outbreak of war. We see in armament limitation an avoidance of one of the biggest provokers of wars—naval competition. We seek the blessings and profits of peace by mutual friendly understanding. Who today seriously contemplates war with Britain or Japan? These are things evidently beyond technology, beyond admiralty. And once again we see the wisdom of the founders of this republic in giving the final decision in such matters, which are questions of state, to a civilian president and senate rather than professional fighting men.

HAZARD IN FIREARMS
In an article in the current "Spectator" an insurance statistician states that the suicide rate of American cities during 1929 reaches the highest figure on record since 1916.

"There is one aspect of the suicide problem," the author continues, "which corresponds to a similar situation in connection with homicide, and that is the suicides due to firearms numbered 4,989 out of a total of 14,356. If the use of firearms was absolutely restricted, the number of deaths from suicide, as well as homicide, would unquestionably be materially reduced."

"The situation is a national scandal, for part of which congress is responsible, but the major burden of responsibility rests upon the states, whose legislation against firearms and the carrying of concealed weapons should be more drastic than is the case."

"If this is a really civilized country there is no need of going about with firearms or having firearms on the premises to be used on the slightest provocation for homicidal or suicidal purposes."

To the scandalous total of homicides and suicides from this cause should be added the accidental deaths from firearms carelessly left where irresponsible persons can get them. What can be done to make the public see this situation as serious enough for immediate and effective action?

POISON IN LIQUOR
Yes, this "poisoned liquor" people drink nowadays is pretty bad. But don't blame all the evil effects on new, strange and extraneous poisons. According to Dr. R. N. Harger, writing in a medical publication, nearly all of it is the same old fundamental poison—grain alcohol. There are three classes of liquor available, he says—imported, moonshine and bootleg. The imported stuff, being made under regular and approved conditions, has no poison in it except the usual grain or ethyl alcohol, which of course will kill if enough of it is taken.

The moonshine might, because of crude methods, contain some fusel oil and acetaldehyde, both poisons. But "long before the drinker would get a fatal dose of either, he would be killed by the ethyl alcohol." The bootleg stuff is made mostly from denatured alcohol. It might contain wood or methyl alcohol as a denaturant, but bootleggers have become afraid of it and very little liquor now contains that poison.

Other denaturants of ethyl alcohol range all the way from carbolic acid to amica and oil of cloves. The chemicals are mostly removed easily by distillation. But even a consumer drinking the stuff without purification, he declares, will nearly always be killed by the ethyl alcohol before he gets a fatal dose of the denaturant. He quotes figures given by coroners' chemists in New York and Chicago, testifying that "in practically every sudden death from liquor, the body of the victim contained enough ethyl alcohol to account for his demise."

People died of alcohol poisoning before prohibition. If more are dying from it now, perhaps it is not so much because the liquor is more poisonous as because it is stronger and they drink it more recklessly.

LEARNING ABOUT SLEEP
The department of psychology of Colgate university, in its zeal to learn all about sleep, its causes, effects and elusiveness, has performed exhaustive experiments with students and now seeks further information. For three weeks all guests at a New York hotel are being asked questions about their night's rest, such as: Did you sleep well? Did you have pleasant dreams? Were you cheerful on waking or did you feel like staying in bed? Were you awakened during the night by a taxi-cab, a trolley car or a fire siren? What kind of pillow do you prefer—soft, hard or medium? How much coffee did you drink last night? How much walking did you do each day? What is your general health condition?

The purpose of all this personal questioning will be explained to guests so that they will not consider either the hotel management or the Colgate faculty impertinent. It is hoped that much valuable data will be gathered. The psychologists would like to discover whether persons from small towns sleep as well in large cities as they do at home and whether they are affected by height, noises and strange surroundings. Whether the visitor at the hotel is in New York on business or pleasure is considered an important influence in the matter of sleep.

The public will await the results of this investigation with curiosity. Then the professors should follow city people into the country and learn whether they find intense quiet, broken only by frogs, crickets, and so on, restful.

POETRY FOR EYE AND EAR
Is poetry supposed to be heard or looked at? Shortly after John Masefield became England's poet laureate, a big argument developed about the small word "go" and whether it should or should not appear in the first line of the lovely and familiar poem, "Sea Fever." "I must go down to the seas again," quoted some one in print, and was at once assailed by angry letter writers objecting to insertion of the word "go," and maintaining that the line should read simply, "I must down to the seas again."

Reference to Masefield's published works increased the confusion, for in some volumes the word was used and in others omitted. Finally some one appealed to Masefield and received this astonishing cablegram: "Insert 'go' when speaking not otherwise." Apparently the poet himself holds that a poem is to be appreciated in two ways, by the eye and by the ear. The line in question looks better without the "go" and sounds better with it. It is all very puzzling, but we live and learn.

THE POST-MORTEM
WE HAD so much fun listening to Doctor Finley, of the American Geographical Society, speak at the welcome for Admiral Byrd by the New York Advertising Club yesterday that we almost forgot to write today's column. The Kitchen Cynic was thinking that perhaps we really owned to ourself to sit through the broadcast of the entire luncheon. So we did. It was the most sparkling program we've ever heard.

Back in the good old days when the girl reporter and I were young, she roped me in for a dinner which set me back $4.00. Now, she's trying her guile on another neophyte of the glorious Fourth Estate, the Younger Bishop. Oughtn't he be warned in time? They shouldn't have shot Lingle.

The "glorious Fourth Estate" has nothing to do with the "glorious Fourth." The first fourth is what a newspaperman calls his profession when he's making money.

Probably they shouldn't have shot Lingle, not with Harold the Seer so available.

Today's Anniversary

W. VIRGINIA'S STATEHOOD
On June 20, 1863, the State of West Virginia was formally admitted to the Union. The act of admission, which was to take effect upon the insertion of a clause providing for the gradual emancipation of slaves, was approved by President Lincoln the previous year.

During the Civil War a large part of the population of the state was in arms and more than 32,000 men were furnished to the Federal Army. On Feb. 3, 1865, slavery was abolished entirely, in advance of the adoption of the thirteenth amendment.

When the Confederate soldiers returned to the southern and eastern counties, it was feared that the Republican control of the state would be lost. Accordingly, an amendment was added to the constitution disfranchising all who had given aid to the Confederacy after June, 1861.

In 1869 the number of voters totaled 50,000 and the disfranchised about 30,000. By a compromise, franchise for political offenders and the negro was granted in 1871. A year later a new constitution went into force.

THE HYCOSTICKNESS AND THE HOITY-HOITY.

In these ritzy hospitals with closed or "semi-closed" staffs and three-year nurse training courses, approved and more or less controlled by that medical oligarchy called the American College of Surgeons, the attendants spend considerable time trying to persuade exacting patrons that a special private nurse is not necessary in addition to the hospital's regular nurses, or that a luxurious private bath is superfluous since the patient can't possibly use it anyway, but, a superintendent of such a hospital complains, people nowadays demand the very highest standards and the hospital simply has to cater to them and their whims.

For bootleggers, racketeers and the like this makes a very satisfactory arrangement, one may surmise. But how does it strike the common people, if any, that great hypothetical middle class of near-royal-Americans?

For centuries the Royal College of Surgeons in England has given members the privilege of appending the letters M.R.C.S. to their names, and certainly such a string of letters gives a doctor's name a lot of class. We don't toady here in this democratic country, but some twenty years ago a doctor over here conceived the idea of organizing a similar surgical society in America, and presently we had the American College of Surgeons and quite a sprinkling of ambitious young surgeons here who soon began to write F.A.C.S. after his M.D., although a minority of the good surgeons of the country are fellows or members of that particular society.

My sole objection to the American College of Surgeons as a factor in public life is that the society is in effect a medical oligarchy seeking to administer matters which belong to the state. When this organization lays down requirements for the standardization of hospitals, surgical service to the public, nurse-training schools, it renders an admirable service. But when the organization gains control of a hospital and attempts to establish its own arbitrary qualifications for doctors who wish to practice surgery in the hospital, then it is time for the man who pays the bills—and that is the patient—to ask what is wrong with the state's system of licensure.

The state grants the doctor who is able to show his fitness, a license to practice medicine and surgery. It never imposes any restrictions or limitations on the doctor's surgical, special or general practice; it is up to the doctor to follow his own inclinations; the state has licensed him as properly educated, trained and qualified to practice any or all branches of medicine and surgery. When this little clique of self-approved surgeons assumes the prerogative of validating or invalidating the state's license, the situation becomes intolerable to self-respecting physicians and a menace to public welfare.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Scratches Heel Poorly.
Whenever I scratch, cut, burn or otherwise injure my skin a brown spot is left when it heals. Can you tell me a way to remove these blemishes? (H. B.)

Answer:—Nothing but time will remove the discoloration.

Schoolgirl Smokes.
I am a senior in high school and 16 years of age. I smoke on the average of five cigarettes a week. Is this harmful to a girl of my age? Is it liable to start tuberculosis? All my sorority sisters smoke. (Jane.)

Answer:—High school sororities are surpassed by just one other institution in their bad influence, and that is the high school fraternity. These are merely excuses for the gang racket. I believe your girls.

H EY! Hey! Please stop this swing for me. I'm getting dizzy as can be," cried Clowney. "I have had my turn and I have had enough." "All right, said Scooty. "Please don't drop." And then he made the big swing stop. Poor Clowney surely looked as if he was going to be sick.

The other wished to swing a bit and Clowney sighed, "I'll gladly sit down in the nice soft grass and wait until you are all through." "That suits me fine," waa Copy cried. "This swinging makes a dandy ride. We may as well have fun while there is something else to do."

The Travel Man looked on a while. The fun they all had made him smile. And then he got a sudden hunch and shouted, "Let me take my turn upon that dandy swing. I'm sure that I will like the thing. I only hope my heftiness will not cause it to break."

"So very promptly they all hied far out along the countryside. Soon came a farmer's wagon. 'Twas a very funny kind. 'Hey! Can we join you?' Clowney cried. 'We all would much enjoy a ride.' 'Sure thing,' exclaimed the farmer. 'You can all jump on behind.'"

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Directly under the chamber of the house of representatives in the capitol is a noisy and spacious restaurant.

Here Col. John Tilson breakfasts daily when the house is in session. Here members of congress gather at the noon hour.

Operated under the supervision of the house, congressmen feel free to criticize the food and service at will. And they do.

Frequent are the complaints from them that the service, and quality of food are not commensurate with the price.

The other day the whole thing was thrashed out on the floor of the house. A club sandwich served as the piece de resistance.

Charlie Underhill, who as chairman of the committee on accounts has charge of the restaurant, was the defender. Frank Murphy led the attack.

TWO EXHIBITS
Underhill brought two club sandwiches into the chamber. One was from the house restaurant. The other was from the dining room of Washington's swankiest hotel.

Before the eyes of the house he took the two sandwiches to pieces.

The first — that from the hotel, included in its make-up toast, two slices of tomato, a couple of strips of bacon, and in the words of Underhill "a meager little slice of chicken."

The second — from the house restaurant — contained toast, mayonnaise dressing, bacon, tomato, and again in the words of Underhill, "a good sizable portion of chicken."

The price of the first was 85 cents that of the second 70 cents.

How, Underhill asked, in the face of the facts, can Murphy stick to his criticism that congressmen must pay in their own restaurant "rates equal to those charged in any first class restaurant?"

What peeved Underhill was that Murphy, who is chairman of a subcommittee of the appropriations committee, did not consult him when his committee went into the needs of the restaurant for the coming year.

Instead, Murphy went to the clerk of the house on the grounds that in previous years he had been unable to get such information from Underhill.

$140 SAVED OFF CHEESE
"The gentleman from Massachusetts is unusually tender on this subject," said Murphy. "However, I think he should give the subcommittee a vote of thanks for providing him the opportunity of telling the world what a great restaurant dealer he has become."

The house enjoyed the tilt hugely. Then Bankhead of Alabama, arose and facetiously remarked that he was not in the club sandwich class; what he wanted to know was there any controversy over a ham sandwich.

Another yelled at Underhill: "What about the little piece of cheese you used to give me with my apple pie?"

"I discontinued the practice," retorted Underhill. "It was no larger than a razor blade. For a nickel you can get a real portion."

"And how much do you think that saved on our cheese bill each month?"

"Exactly $140."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MANSOCK

New York—A city of 6,000 cliff-dwellers is being built on a single block of Manhattan.

Here in the Chelsea neighborhood on the site of the old London Terrace apartments will be epitomized the concentrated home life of city people.

Already 360 of the contemplated 1,700 apartments, surmounted by 10 penthouses, have risen to the sheer height of 16 stories. The rest are to be built by next spring, covering the one block bounded by West Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets between Ninth and Tenth avenues over by the Hudson piers.

The largest apartment house in the world, if its 10 units are considered to be one, its floor space is exceeded only by Chicago's Furniture Mart and Detroit's General Motors building.

CITY OF ONE BLOCK

Here, too, is symbolized in a brick-coated steel mass of imposing grandeur the passing of the old civilization of front stoop neighbors and the new mechanically refrigerated community.

For the former London Terrace was a picturesque block four-story flat, put up when West Twenty-third street was the exclusive thoroughfare of New York society, its pavement sounding with the hoofbeats of Mrs. Astor's pet horse.

Its old inhabitants could sit in their tiny front yards and discuss the affair of Jim Fisk and Josie Mansfield, who lived in the next block. Now the new occupants will have to lean out of their windows to see their neighbors enter their own house.

If they didn't have to go to work, they wouldn't need to leave home for a moment. Tunnels underground connect them with a shopping center, gymnasium, swimming pool, solarium, restaurant, laundry, tailors, doctors and dentists.

The building even has its own private policeman, smartly uniformed in the fashion of London Boddies, with those funny helmets like derbies with brims turned down fore and aft.

Not only will the house police be on duty to preserve the intramural peace, but as though it were a medieval castle there will be only one entrance open after midnight and all who enter will be scrutinized by the guard. However, no password is to be demanded.

Nor will tenants have to remain indoors. They will have the private, landscaped garden, around which, the building is arranged. There they may gaze upon a memorial tablet to Clement Moore, who wrote "Twas the Night Before Christmas" somewhere in that neighborhood.

PUBLIC SERVANT
Speaking of policemen, the height of courtesy has been reached by a traffic cop near the Yankee stadium.

It was Saturday afternoon and the cars of baseball fans were creeping homeward, bumper to bumper, when all traffic was stopped abruptly.

The law-abiding drivers who leaned out to see what had happened saw the policeman go over to the sidewalk, take a feeling follow by the elbow, and gently and carefully guide him across to a safe leaning place against a post box.

There was a time when drunks were given pretty rough treatment.

INTERCITY RADIO COMPANY FALLS IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

Radiotelegraph Service On Great Lakes Held Up For Time Being

BY ROBERT MACK

Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press Washington.—(CPA)—Financially unable to stand the gaff of the vigorous competition in radiotelegraphy, the Intercity Radio Telegraph company falls by the wayside—broke.

The first company to establish a public radiotelegraph service in the Great Lakes area, this company has gone into the hands of receivers and its valuable franchises to radio channels are annulled by the federal radio commission. Intercity aspired to expand into a nationwide radiotelegraphic system, in competition with the established wire lines, but the commission vetoed its proposal.

It was Intercity that trekked to the court of appeals, here, just a year ago, and obtained an order which effectively tied up the continental short wave channels available for public point to point service. Afterwards, the Radio Corporation of America and the Mackay Radio Telegraph company appealed to this court from decisions of the commission which affected them adversely, and further complicated the distribution of these valuable channels.

LICENSES DEFAULTED
Several weeks ago Intercity passed into the hands of receivers. The commission designated for hearing five of the seven licenses held by the company, to ascertain officially its ability to continue operations. Intercity failed to respond to this call, and the commission, entered an order defaulting the licenses. Renewal of the licenses had been requested by Frank N. Schaut, of Cleveland, receiver of the property. The stations affected by the commission's action are two of Buffalo and one each at Duluth, Detroit and Cleveland. Other stations are maintained at Chicago, Columbus and Ishpeming, but the licenses have not yet expired, although they unquestionably will not be renewed by virtue of the commission's action.

Intercity during the past several years has made a determined effort to "grow up." Emil J. Simon, of Cleveland, president of the defunct company, several times endeavored to produce additional facilities from the commission, but without avail. He claimed the unlimited financial support of Warner Brothers motion picture interests in his nationwide expansion project, provided the commission granted it, but things never developed that far.

Intercity had an aggregate of about 600 customers in the Great Lakes ship to shore and point to point traffic. The gross business was about $60,000 a year. Efforts to reclaim the Intercity system thus far have netted nothing. On behalf of the shipowners' association of the Great Lakes, Lee Hinsley, its attorney, urged the commission to work out a plan whereby they could continue the service by forming a new corporation. He was told that the customary procedure of filing new applications must be followed.

Comedy Riders Make Big Hit

No circus is complete unless it has a comedy riding act. It is the most costly of the whole show and the number of comedy bareback riders who lead in their profession can be counted upon one's fingers. The Hobson family—known all over the world as superb riders—are the comedy stars who will be in this city on Friday, June 27, with the Robbins Bros. There are eight in the act and they occupy the center of the rings for nearly thirty minutes. The women riders do a number of novel stunts that captivate the audience from beginning but the clown work of Rider Hobson brings laughs that seemingly push the roof of the big canvass tent up into the skies.

The circus will arrive early in the morning and will present a street parade.

The Appleton drill team and drum corps will leave some time in the morning as will members of the marching club. All are requested to march in the parade whether they have uniforms or not. The Appleton delegation will form in line on Eighth-st facing Oregon. It is expected that this will be one of the largest and most colorful parades ever held in the new outfits which include cream-colored breeches, puttees, and overcoats caps, trimmed in black. In the parade the corps will wear white shirts and black ties, and for the exhibition they will wear coats.

Miss Margaret Haberberger, Mrs. Fred Wanke, and Mrs. Frank Verrier left Friday for Oshkosh to attend the remaining sessions of the convention. Many others from Appleton will probably go down for the Saturday activities.

FIND GIPSIES' KING IN POLICE STATION

Chicago—(AP)—The S. Halsted-st. colony that knows Time Bimbo as "the king of the Gipsies" feared for his safety after he had been missing three days.

"He might have been taken for a ride" or kidnapped by a cutthroat band of rival gipsies," Bimbo's friends and family told police last night.

So police searched throughout the night and "King" Bimbo—in a cell in the Lawndale district police station.

Bimbo was being held for questioning by state's attorney's officials.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

SUE read admiration in Jack's eyes, approval in Sarah's, and cooperation in Sarah's. "I've been looking for you, Sarah," she said slowly and easily. "Corinne's a married woman and her picture made the paper tonight because of your own temperate-raising date. Ready to come along or are you loitering?"

"Sue, there's just one letter," Jack pleaded. "Do you think you could..."

She hesitated. She had earned the half-day holiday. Last night, when they had been together at the inn, was far, far away. At the end of a trail that wound away into night and run and understanding. He would think of her as a useful piece of office furniture if she stayed. But maybe... maybe they would catch something of that alchemy that seemed to touch them now and then... He would marry her soon... He would leave her with the letters of type while he scouted the fairy-tale princess to a dance or bridge somewhere. No, she would not do it.

"The first thing in the morning I'll help," she said, but the steady blueness of her eyes was not careless like her voice. "I can't tonight, Jack."

Through dinner and after dinner her thoughts went back to Jack's disappointed eyes. He had looked like a small boy who had intended to turn in all his savings suddenly gone on that day and then didn't get the help at home that he needed.

In order to forget him she went over to Grace Metcalf's as soon as the dishes were washed, dried and put away. Her mother was reading a magazine. Her father was dozing over the evening paper, rather timid admiration in his eyes because his daughter had been found worthy in sight of Harry Becker, although there was a baffled disappointment with it to think that Corinne had not confided in him. She never said, Sue reflected, feeling suddenly sorry for her father and mother with the same lives that ran around in such a home circle.

"Lure is alright. He's all together," Mr. Merryman was saying, as Sue passed through the room. He glanced up and saw her and his eyes grew questioning.

"He is," Sue agreed, laughing merrily at her father's discomfiture. "As a brother-in-law he's welcome to the family. I'm going over to watch Grace hem napkins and table cloths or whatever brides-to-be do."

Grace wasn't hemming anything, although clouds of white and yellow material were heaped on the gate-legged table. She and Jimmy were pooling over steamship matter.

"Remember the time we thought we could see across the world if we swung high enough in the old rope swing?" Jimmy looked up to ask Sue.

Sue nodded brightly, blue eyes soft until they were almost purple with memories, cheeks flushed, dark curls tumbled. Jimmy stared at her a second, and Grace glanced up carefully, but the cool gray eyes were watching to see at whom he was looking. Jimmy's face, she too smiled at Sue's slim young loveliness.

"I've got the material for your dress," she said then, "Run along and read the paper. I want to talk to Sue a while, Jimmy."

NEXT Grace Metcalf confides her wedding plans to Sue. (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

Interesting Menus

BY SISTER MARY

NEA Service Writer
The thoughtful housewife usually plans her dessert from three angles: nourishment, cost and beauty. The summer dessert especially can be planned to provide much nourishment for the meal.

The nourishment required in the dessert is determined by the rest of the meal. Calculate the calories and observe the protein contained in the main part of the meal. If the first course of a luncheon is a rich cream soup, a dessert made of milk and fruit is ideal.

Fruit is the ideal dessert for summer on several counts. One of the criticisms of the food of the average family is that too little fruit is used. The serving of fresh fruit saves time, an important factor in a busy mother's day. Waste can be avoided if several varieties are cut up together. Served in combination, none need go begging because there's not enough to "go round." Slightly sweetened and chilled, there's nothing more refreshing than a fruit "cup."

Fruit juices stiffened by the addition of gelatine make an excellent hot weather dessert for almost all ages and types. The person who is dieting to reduce may have this dessert without cream, while the one who wants to gain in weight will find the fruit stimulating to the appetite with the cream adding many calories.

Rice puddings always are acceptable and can be as inexpensive and simple as one wishes. When made with milk and many eggs, they are very nourishing and are particularly suitable to serve after a summer vegetable-plate dinner.

Chilled orange soufflé is a nourishing summer dessert that is most refreshing.

eggs is not suitable. If the meat course has been a heavy roast, a light, cooling dessert should be chosen. But when the meat course has been light, as is often the case in hot weather, the dessert can well make up the necessary protein in its milk and eggs.

A very sweet dessert often adds much to the fuel value of a meal, for sugar is a quick energizer or stimulant. In summer the sweetness of desserts should be given careful attention. It should, of course, be sweet enough to be palatable, but over-sweetening produces just that much extra heat.

If the dinner has been lacking in bulk and breadstuffs, a rice or cereal pudding fills the need.

TIME FOR SIMPLE DESSERT

If the meat and vegetables have been expensive, serve an inexpensive dessert. This does not mean a commonplace one, but rather one that is simple, requiring no large amount of cream nor expensive, elaborate ingredients. Contrast is always essential and a simple dessert should follow an elaborate main course.

The serving adds much to the value of any food and the dessert made attractive by cubes of bright jelly or snips of cherry gains much no matter how simple it may be. Neatly shaped portions or individual molds are an aid to attractive serving.

EDUCATION DAY IS OBSERVED BY DE MOLAY ORDER

Educational Day was observed at the meeting of the John P. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, Thursday night at Masonic temple with a special program. ## STRAWBERRIES CAN BE SERVED IN NOVEL WAYS

Luscious Berries Give Hostess Chance to Surprise Guests

When strawberries are plump and large it is a pleasant variation to put several on a plate unstemmed, garnished if possible with their glossy leaves. Include a little mound of granulated sugar on the plate, and then eat the berries after taking them by the stem and dipping them in the sugar. The experience is quite as pleasant as plucking and eating the berry from the vine.

Another inviting way is to pour three or four spoonfuls of sweetened orange juice over each individual serving of stemmed berries.

The value of sugar in improving the flavor of early summer fruits should be kept in mind. Many of these fruits have a tartness that will be pleasantly modified by sugar. And if berries, peaches and early apples are stewed, sugar is essential for real enjoyment.

Of course, it is exceedingly profitable to take advantage of opportunities that occur and "put up" a supply of jellies, jams and preserves. These foods help make balanced meals more appetizing. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

SMOKE AND NOISE CLEAR AGAIN AFTER REVOLT IN CHICAGO

Public Almost Convinced,
However, That This Was No Sham Battle

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright 1930 by Cons. Press.
Chicago—(CPA)—Smoke and noise are rapidly clearing away from another hectic 10 days of public revolt in Chicago. Only the tattered titles of two police officials and a few wounded feelings among gangsters remain on the field.

However, sharp shooting continues and someone of enough importance may yet get hit to convince the public that this has not been another sham battle in the picture war against the local political-criminal alliance. Immense political capital lies waiting to be utilized by someone capable of smashing the established crime set-up.

Few Chicagoans expect it to be taken advantage of fully. John Alcock, acting police commissioner, has for 35 years been a friend of Mayor William Hale Thompson. Already he is blaming a previous administration for local conditions. As in the past, conversation flows freely while action is limited.

The mayor has told his chief:

MUST CAPTURE GANGSTERS

"Your first job is to capture every gangster in Chicago. Your second is to get the evidence which will send every one of them to the penitentiary or to the electric chair."

Acting Commissioner Alcock, who will be expected not to make im-takes in carrying out orders says that 500 gangsters are causing all of Chicago's troubles. He believes that he can make quick work of them, and in order to help, the Chicago Daily News has published the roll call of gangdom again giving names and addresses for the help of the police.

But following are some things people in Chicago consider:

Alcock is credited with saying that one out of every five policemen on the Chicago force is or has been on the payroll of gangs.

Alfred Lingie, Chicago Tribune police reporter, whose murder set under way the present revolt may not have been killed because he knew too much. The Tribune now says that it doesn't know why he was killed. Sensational rumors of the reason are on the tongue of a great many people in Chicago.

Gangs are powerful in elections. If driven too hard they could wreck political organizations by revealing what they know.

An election is coming in November and a mayoralty primary election in February. In the recent April primary they functioned with greatest efficiency.

Gambling privileges and booze privileges, granted to gangsters, have been the principal source of graft and will not be given up without a struggle.

Two developments, however, are expected to spur the police to at least a show of activity. One an investigation of the police department by an aldermanic committee which wants to find how police captains can maintain expensive automobiles and summer homes on a salary of $4,000 a year; the other a grand jury investigation into the causes for the murder of reporter Langie.

Every organization of importance in the city now has passed resolutions. The whole town is tired of excuses. The reward for the official who could show a big batch of gangster scalps would probably be the sweeping acclaim of the city.

The present administration, heading toward its close, would like to get that acclaim, but without stepping on too many toes. The activity which is about to commence, is expected to be tempered with great discretion.

LANGDON ON STAND IN O'BRIEN SUIT

Admits Signing $11,500
Notes But Says He Did So
To Avoid Court Action

Los Angeles—(AP)—More details relating to the divorce of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Brien and Mrs.
O'Brien's marriage to Harry Langdon, film comedian, were in store
today for the jury hearing O'Brien's suit to collect $11,500 on notes he held against the screen actor.

Langdon was called to resume his testimony. He previously admitted signing the notes but contended the transaction was made to prevent O'Brien from filing a threatened $25,000 alienation of affections suit, and not to settle for the alleged theft of Mrs. O'Brien's love.

In seeking to avoid payment of the notes, Langdon also hopes to recover $15,000 cash he alleges was paid O'Brien when the notes were signed.

The comedian yesterday testified that while his present wife still was married to O'Brien, he had given her several valuable gifts, including a $1,000 fur coat, and at one time while she was ill he had turned his home over to her.

He also admitted he had lived in Mrs. O'Brien's home for a period of two weeks.

Charles W. Wicklund, former Hollywood policeman, testified he had gone to the O'Brien home in 1925 with Mrs. Rose Frances Langdon, the comedian's first wife, and the then Mrs. Langdon accused Mrs.
O'Brien of "taking my husband away."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP DECLINES, IS REPORT

municipal ownership in the United States since 1923 has been greater

Southern Cross Is Built From Two Damaged Planes

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith (inset) flew the Southern Cross (above) from California to Australia in 1928. He picked up J. P. Saul (left in group) as navigator for east-to-west crossing of Atlantic, and M. E. Van Dyke (right) as second pilot.

New York—(AP)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith picked a plane with a history when he decided to attempt an Ireland-to-New York flight in the Southern Cross.

It was this same monoplane that carried him and three companions on his historic 7,839-mile flight from California to Australia, then back to London in 1928.

The history of the Southern Cross, however, started long before those hops.

The plane was rebuilt from two Fokkers constructed for Capt.
George H. Wilkins for his 1926 polar expedition. He bought a single-motored transport and another Fokker with three Wright whirlwind motors. After these planes crashed in 1927 they were shipped to Seattle from Alaska.

Captain Kingsford-Smith, then planning his Australia flight, decided to build his ship from remnants of Wilkins' planes. He took the fuselage of the single-motored Fokker, and the wings and landing gear of the larger plane and equipped the resulting ship with three new Wright whirlwind motors. Thus the Southern Cross was born.

Its tanks were equipped with dump valves as first designed by

WORK PROGRESSING ON NEW ZUELKE BUILDING

Work is advancing as rapidly as possible on the foundation of the new Zuelke building at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st. Concrete is being poured for the seven large cantilever reinforced concrete piers, as well as for 14 isolated piers.
The outer foundation walls are nearly finished and reinforcements are being prepared in the forms before pouring the concrete columns incorporated in the wall.

The foreman in charge of the work estimates that the foundation work will be completed in about 10 days.
The foundation is being prepared for a 10 story building, though present plans only call for the construction of six and above the foundation the structural steel work will be raised, which will be faced with Bedford stone.

BASEBALL TEAMS ARE ORGANIZED BY BRIGADE CAMPERS

Cashier, President And Janitor Looked In Camp Bank Yesterday

Neenah—The daily letter from the Boy Brigade camp at Onaway Island tells of excitement in the camp during the first day.

"The bank cashier, president and janitor was locked in the camp bank yesterday," we were informed by special wire from Camp Onaway, where the Brigade boys are spending their annual summer camp. A run on the bank by brigades threatened to close the bank, but S. F. Shattuck, who holds all of the above offices in the camp bank, notified the boys that no lock occurred. He was unable to give the motive for the act. It was learned later that some one accidentally closed the lock while the cashier was busy inside. Mr. Shattuck left for Neenah early Thursday, planning to return in the afternoon.

Baseball teams were organized with names and captains as follows: Kitchen Boys, Clough; Fizz Boos, Steigler; Wloozits, J. Meyer; Flatbush Fumblers, Handler; Butterfingers, Oozane; Ski-feet, Burnsides; Jim Jams, Haire; Red Hot Vagabonds, Kuehl; Bat Busters, W. Schmidt; and Glue Stickers, H. Welke. A horseshoe tournament is being organized.

In the indoor baseball games played Thursday, the Kitchen Boys won two games, defeating the Fizz Boos 13 to 12 and the Wloozits 8 to 5. The Fizz Boos lost another game to Wloozits, 13 and 13. The Butterfingers seemed to have a rather easy time, winning two games, one from the Flatbush Fumblers 16 and 8 and the other from the Ski Feet team, 20 and 3. The Flat Feet Fumblers rallied and whitewashed the Wloozits 17 to 0, but the Ski Feet failed to win a game.

The Ski Feet nine lost to the Jim Jams, 13 and 15. The Bat Busters copped a 13 to 12 game from the Red Hot Vagabonds. In the evening games the Jim Jams kept its slate clean, defeating the Red Hots 14 and 8, while the Glue Stickers bested the Bat Busters 16 and 5.

In tent inspection Thursday first place was won by tent No. 6 containing Bob Kuehl, sergeant; Neubauer, W. Kitterling, Peterson, W. Hanson, Gressler, and C. Rasmussen. Tent No. 12 won second place with Jim Meyer, sergeant, while third place was given to tent No. 10 in charge of Stanley Severson.

Another interesting camp fire meeting is scheduled for tonight.

FRITZEN BILL IS SENT TO PRESIDENT

Measure Would Credit Neenah Postmaster With $250 For Stamp Loss

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau) Washington, June 19.—The Senate has passed and sent to the President the bill already passed by the House of Representatives to credit Postmaster James C. Fritzen of Neenah with $250 on account of the loss of 25 cents of 2-cent stamps.

Postmaster Fritzen was not responsible for the loss. It occurred at the time he took the postoffice over from his predecessor. He signed a receipt for a box containing 50 cents and later, on July 15, 1927, he opened the box and found that it contained only 25 cents.

The Postoffice department and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing made a thorough investigation of the situation, found that Postmaster Fritzen was not responsible, but was unable to place the responsibility on any one else.

Passage of the bill simply relieves the postmaster from paying for the loss of these stamps. Rep. Florian Lampert of Oshkosh introduced the bill in behalf of Postmaster Fritzen.

The President is expected to approve the bill promptly, as he authorized the Bureau of the Budget to inform the Postmaster General that the bill was not in conflict with the financial program of the President.

FIREWORKS LAW TO BE SHARPLY OBEYED

Chief Lyman Warns Against Illegal Shooting And Celebrating

Menasha—The police department will rigidly enforce the new state law governing fireworks on July 4, according to announcement made by Police Chief James Lyman. Exhibitions of roman candles and sky-rockets in front yards will be forbidden on July 4, Chief Lyman stated.

The law recently passed by the legislature provides for the following kinds of fireworks only: Chinese and domestic firecrackers not more than two inches in length nor more than three-eighths of an inch in diameter, covered fire in colored containers; light torches with lighting end covered; fountains, flower pots and display wheels throwing a display not more than six feet and uncolored sparklers not more than 10 inches in length over all and three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter.

Permit from Mayor N. G. Remmel is necessary before roman candles or skyrockets may be used and with a permit, they must be discharged in an open field or on the water.

Toy pistols, cannons or other contrivances using explosive caps or cartridges and any Chinese firecrackers more than two inches in length and three-eighths of an inch in diameter are banned from sale, manufacture or importation into the state, Chief Lyman stated.

PLAY MAKEUP GAMES IN SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Neenah—Two makeup games in the National softball league were played Thursday evening at Columbia park diamond. In the other game the Hardwood Products defeated the Grocers 11 and 8. The league will open its second round of games on the evening of June 24 with the Hardwoods playing Neenah Papers at Columbia park, Jersid Knits and Grocers playing at Doty park, and American Legion and Lakeview playing at Columbia park.

INDIANS MAY NOT GET $20,000 FOR FEES FOR LAWYERS

Rep. Thomas L. Blanton, Texas, Blocks Bill Authorizing Appropriation

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Crescent—Washington Correspondent

Washington—The Menominee Indians probably will not be permitted to spend $20,000 out of their approximately $20,000 to retain attorneys to advise them on now to handle their resources, all because Rep. R. Q. Lee of Texas died and his congressional district returned Rep. Thomas L. Blanton to Congress.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs and the House of Representatives Committee on Indian Affairs approved the bill introduced by Rep. Edward E. Browne of Waupaca to authorize the Menominees to spend $6,000 a year for two years, with not more than $8,000 additional for expenses. Rep. Blanton, who advertised in his recent campaign in Texas that he wanted to rush back to Congress "to prevent the passage of bad bills", blocked consideration of the bill, however.

Rep. Louis Cramton of Michigan, who introduces appropriations for Indian projects, began to oppose the bill, and when Rep. Browne told him the financial condition of the Menominees, the extensive lumber resources they own, and the claims they have against the government, Rep. Cramton said:

"I am perfectly familiar with that; I have visited their reservation and I know their financial condition; but that does not mean that we have to make a grant of $20,000 to Wisconsin lawyers."

Rep. Browne informed him that the tribe did not intend to employ Wisconsin lawyers. He later mentioned that Ralph Fredenberg, Washington representative of the Menominees, has already conferred with the New York firm once headed by Charles Evans Hughes, now Chief Justice of the United States, and now headed by his son, Charles Evans Hughes Jr., former solicitor general of the United States.

Every effort was made by Rep. Browne to convince the objectors, but without avail. The last straw came when Rep. Browne mentioned that the Menominees might want to incorporate to manage their lumber mill, their 2,000,000,000 feet of standing lumber, and their power resources. Rep. Cramton stated that he is "100 per cent opposed to all of these new, new-fangled incorporation ideas."

Rep. Blanton came into the picture and wondered why, if Wisconsin could "send some of the strongest men we have here to sit on this floor who receive an annual salary of $10,000", the Indians could not get good lawyers for less than $20,000.

Immediately thereafter Rep. Blanton objected, thus stopping consideration of the bill under unanimous consent, and it is hardly likely that the bill will be reached again before this session ends.

LEWIS SAYS HOOVER BEING BETRAYED BY HIS PARTY LEADERS

Waukegan, Ill.—(AP)—James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee for the senate from Illinois, said last night that President Hoover is being betrayed by his party leaders and discredited by his political opponents in America's international relations.

Addressing the Waukegan University Club and Bar association, Lewis declared that "political partyism is destroying national patriotism."

Blaming "blunders charged in our international dealings" upon lack of proper counsel from the president's party heads and failure of patriotic aid from his political foes, the Democratic nominee admonished both parties to differ as home affairs, and demand but to unite in support of the president on an American foreign policy.

"The hour calls for all citizens and political parties to aid the president of the United States in whatever relations may be between our country and foreign nations."

"The late so-called naval peace pact made at London has lost to the United States the friendly spirit of France, Italy and Germany. This was through the error by which the president was trapped into putting the United States, England and Japan against France, Italy and Germany," Lewis said.

APPLETON PEOPLE SUPERVISE CHERRY PICKERS' CAMPS

Fruit Crop This Year Expected To Be Larger Than In 1929

Contrary to general opinion, the cherry crop in Door-co this summer will be 80 per cent of the record year and larger than last season. Warren F. Wright, former high school instructor here, and now director of one of the pickers' camps said Wednesday while in Appleton arranging for the summer program. The first injured a few trees, Mr. Wright said, but at a recent meeting of crop owners it was said the harvest this year would be larger than last year.

Mr. Wright will have charge of 500 pickers this season at Sturgeon Bay in what has been known as Camp Chac. Several other Appleton people have signed to direct activities at camps, among them Harold "Pete" Brise, who will have a camp at State park, Robert Alexander, Lawrence college who will have a camp at Horseshoe Bay, Marjorie Stephenson, instructor at the high school, will have a camp at Ellison Bay for girls and will be assisted by Mrs. William Pickett, Appleton.

William Pickett will assist Brise at the state park camp, and Werner Witte, assistant principal of the high school, has general supervision of all camps. All applications from persons wishing to pick cherries should be addressed to Werner Witte, Sturgeon Bay. Donald Gebhardt former Lawrence college student and assistant physical education director of the Y. M. C. A. is to be physical director of all the camps.

Coaching courses and instruction in basketball and football will be given during leisure periods for boys, it is said. Rex John, basketball coach at Manitowoc high school, will give cage instruction, and Brise will coach football.

Picking cherries is expected to begin about July 10, it is said. Any person who can pick 90 to 100 quarts a day should easily make enough money to pay expenses and have a few dollars left, it is said. The record for a single day's picking is 57 quarts.

How To Shop

By William H. Baldwin

Golf hose are either full-fashioned or seamless and come with cuffs. Hosiery intended for use by hunters and hikers and the rougher usage of forest and field, is made of the coarser grades of wool yarns, strong, heavy and tough. But this coarseness must not be taken as an indication of poor quality. A yarn may not be heavy without being of inferior grade.

Look carefully to the seams of all sports hosiery. See that they are not too large where the foot joins the leg and running up the back of the ankle and calf. The knitting should, of course, be uniform without knots, loose ends, or other faults. Be sure to buy wool hose a half-size or even a size larger than ordinarily worn, to allow for shrinking.

BREWER INFIELD GOES BAD, INDIANS HANG UP 5-3 WIN

Kansas City Rallies In Seventh To Beat Louisville Colonels

CHICAGO—(AP)—Nothing has happened to seriously challenge Louisville's leadership of the American association, but the battle for the other first division places continues with unabated earnestness.

The Columbus Senators moved into St. Paul Tuesday with a one-game margin over the Saints for second position. Today they were one full game behind second, now occupied by the Saints, in a tie with Toledo for third place. The Senators took the opening game of the series from St. Paul, but were defeated twice Wednesday and took a 9 to 8 beating yesterday.

Columbus jumped onto Van Atta for eight runs in the first inning and apparently had the game all won. Slim Harris was sent to the rescue for St. Paul, however, and the Senators' sluggers were almost helpless. The Saints started on Dutch Kemmer in the first and chased him in the third. He was followed by Maxton, who collapsed in the eighth when the Saints scored the winning runs.

Kansas City finally scored a victory over Louisville. Trailing by two runs in the seventh, the Blues opened up on Americus Polli and shoved over four runs for a 5 to 3 decision. Minneapolis made it two out of three over Toledo by a 7 to 4 victory.

The Millers gave Carmen Hill five runs in the first three innings and added another pair in the eighth. Bill Burwell outlasted Charlie Robertson in a pitching battle and Indianapolis defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 3. Ragged support proved Robertson's undoing. The Brewer infield kicked away two chances to return the Indians without a score in the fifth and Red Corriden's club counted three times. Burwell held Milwaukee to seven hits.

English Actor Likes Our Penitentiaries In U. S.

By JESSIE HENDERSON

(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
Hollywood, Calif. —(CPA)—Reginald Sharland, the English actor now in Hollywood talkies, has one ambition probably not shared by anyone else in the world, and as it constitutes a swell commentary upon American humanitarianism, here it is. He wants to serve a term in some American penitentiary.

"An ambition," he added today, "which several of my friends assure me will probably be realized."

Mr. Sharland, just returned from an all-day visit to a local "pen," was enthusiastic. "Why any prisoner fortunate enough to get into one of your jails ever tries to get out, is beyond me," he observed, "and, in America, it's so easy to get in! The situation strikes me as absolutely ideal."

"Of course, as usual over here, the women have the best of it but the men are allowed privileges perfectly astonishing. They can smoke, for example, many hours during the day. The cell looks comfortable. The work is not as tough as the talkies. There's no worry about food or lodging or clothes. I've never hankered for jail in England, but over here—my word!

"They showed me through the women's section. I saw one room, presumably that of a woman official, with a pink bedspread, pictures on the walls, and propped in the middle of one bed one of those really dressed dolls given away at cabarets or night clubs. It was a most attractive room, no joking."

"This belongs to the matron?" I asked. "Oh, no, to one of the prisoners," replied the guard, "the girls take pride in their rooms."

"I should think they would! And how they must hate to leave them. This particular girl had, I believe, assaulted or killed some man with a hatchet."

MORROW PLANNING QUIET CAMPAIGN AGAINST SIMPSON

Latter, It Appears, Will Have To Confine Himself To Shadow Boxing

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—It was learned from friends of Dwight W. Morrow Wednesday that Mr. Morrow plans to continue, in his senatorial fight against Alexander C. Simpson, Democratic nominee, the same kind of campaign as that in which he quietly and painlessly eliminated Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and Franklin W. Fort.

There will be a few speeches on what Mr. Morrow conceives to be national and international issues and no rough and tumble milling with the vociferous Mr. Simpson, whose campaign practice is somewhat comparable to the ring strategy of Johnny Risko, the bouncing baker's boy of Cleveland. From the present outline of Mr. Morrow's campaign, it appears that Mr. Simpson will have to confine himself mostly to shadow-boxing.

Looking over the returns Wednesday, the Morrow managers find in the vote in Hudson, particularly, assurance that Mr. Morrow need have no fear of the outcome in November. This great northern industrial county is the citadel of Mayor Hacco of Jersey City, overlord of the Democratic party in New Jersey, and it was in this county that Mr. Morrow received his heaviest vote in Tuesday's primary. If Mr. Morrow is thus acclaimed in the enemy's home territory, his backers see no reason to worry.

ISSUES ARE SCARCE

It appears that if the two candidates want to work up an exciting campaign, they will have considerable difficulty in finding exciting issues. As both are wet, there is no dispute about prohibition. A special session of congress will dispose of the naval treaty, so that will be out of the way before the campaign row into any very hot argument about this. Panaceas are not included in Mr. Morrow's repertoire, and it is not believed that he will have any very hot answer to Mr. Simpson's challenge. The late William Howard Taft, somewhat comparable to Mr. Morrow in political behavior, when asked at Winona, Minn., what he was going to do for the working man, replied, "God knows!" While this was assailed as indicating callous indifference, Mr. Taft's friends knew that it reflected only his impatience with slick and spurious solutions, which attitude is decidedly characteristic of Mr. Morrow.

It is conceded among political observers here that Mr. Simpson's chance consists mainly in lower levels of business depression and increased unemployment. He is a belligerent and energetic campaigner and is especially effective where he has a chance to stir up crowd indignation. He should be a formidable contender.

It is learned that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will not participate in his father-in-law's campaign and will maintain his usual elegant silence on everything not connected with airplanes. Mr. Morrow will leave soon for Mexico, to attend to

MARTHA JONES SETS NEW RACING RECORD

Chicago—(AP)—Winner of five races, Martha Jones has established herself as the leading woman rider of the west. The little daughter of Vice Consul Edward Jones had already won two races at Churchill Downs, and yesterday scored her third straight at Washington Park in sensational style. She ran five and one-half furlongs in 1:06, two-fifths of a second less the track record, and the fastest time of the meeting. She set a new record for the shortest race of the season, running back only $2.50 for each $2.50 bet.

Important details of her ambassadorship, she is said to have that she has been in the United States for a number of weeks to visit her mother and the father-in-law of the late Senator Jones, who is now in the United States senate.

CHILTON KIWANIS HEAR MISSOURI MAN

University Professor Tells Members About Pittsburgh Tax Plan

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Chilton — Dr. Harry Gunnison Brown, professor of economics in the University of Missouri, addressed the Chilton Kiwanis Tuesday evening on the Pittsburgh tax plan. The outstanding feature of this tax plan, he said, is the sharp distinction between the two types of real estate, the land and the buildings.

Under the Pittsburgh plan the value of the land is regarded very largely as a result of the character and growth of the community, while the buildings and other permanent improvements thereon are looked upon as due to the thrift and labor of the owner of the land, he stated. The land value is greatly dependent on the community and it is just to have the land bear more of the tax. The system appears to work so satisfactorily in Pittsburgh and Scranton, the only two second class cities in Pennsylvania, that many cities of the third class are now asking the state for legislation empowering them to institute a like plan of city taxation, the speaker added.

Let him do the Summer Knocking

MOTORS knock more in summer heat. And that's something not to be tolerantly brushed aside like Mr. Redtop's noisy clatter.

For remember, a knock is a shock! Repeated thousands of times a minute, it is bound to inflict wear and damage. Your motor grows old before its time.

Furthermore, knocking is the certain signal of power-loss and fuel-waste — taking the edge off high compression advantages and handicapping motors of old type even more seriously.

Wadham's

is the gasoline that disposes of the knock — and goes a good deal more deeply than that in providing better summer running.

For primarily this is a gasoline of exceptionally high type, combining deep-chested sturdy power with extremely quick dry vaporization and complete explosiveness. Consequently you run on the lean dry mixture of unusual economy and quickest response.

BUTTER, POULTRY AND EGGS DECLINE IN STATE IN MAY

Potato Prices, However, Climb, Agricultural Department Reports

Madison — (AP) — Prices of butter, eggs and poultry, some of Wisconsin's most important products, decline during May while potato prices, vital to central Wisconsin, increased, the United States Department of Agriculture reported in its June bulletin issued this week.

The general level of prices received by producers on May 15, reached the lowest level of the season and lower market prices during the second week of June probably have reduced farm prices to the lowest level since 1922, the department said.

The farm price of potatoes for the country as a whole averaged $1.50 per bushel on May 15, or four cents higher than on April 15, largely as a result of the very light supplies of old crop potatoes in the western and central states. In the terminal markets, however, prices of old potatoes during May were lower than during April. This year's production in the early and second early states is estimated at 1,300,000 bushels greater than that of last year.

The price of 92 score butter at New York declined from 37 cents on May 1, to 32 cents on May 31 but went to 33 cents by June 11. The monthly average price of May of 34.3 cents was 2.6 cents below April 1929 and 5.8 cents below May 1929. Estimated production of butter in April was about four per cent below the same month last year. Production may equal that of a year ago for the remainder of the summer season, the department said.

Egg prices declined during May with heavy receipts and large storage stocks already accumulated. Fresh extras at New York averaged 25.7 cents as compared with 27.5 cents in April and 33.3 a year ago. Receipts are likely to be relatively heavy for several months.

As a result of heavy supplies of both fresh killed and frozen poultry, the farm price of chickens declined from 21.1 cents on April 15 to 20 cents on May 11, or 4.4 cents below a year ago. This is the lowest May price since 1917 and accompanied the largest May receipts on record. Receipts at four primary markets during May were 21.6 million pounds as compared with 17.3 million a year ago.

FRUIT LEAFROLLER HURTS OAK TREES

Defoliation In Past Two Weeks Causes Concern Throughout State

Madison — The defoliation of thousands of acres of oak trees throughout Wisconsin which has been taking place during the past two weeks by the fruit tree leafroller is causing state-wide concern, reports E. L. Chambers, state entomologist of the Wisconsin department of agriculture and markets. "The caterpillars responsible for this defoliation," he says, "began their feeding just as the new foliage was unfolding and in many sections have completely stripped the trees of all their leaves. The situation is particularly serious in Portage and Waupaca counties where the trees were likewise defoliated last summer.

"The eggs from which these worms hatched were laid by a small rusty brown moth last summer and remained in irregular masses on the bark over winter. While spraying the foliage with an arsenical will control this pest, such methods would not be practical under forest conditions. Fortunately, the insect has only a single brood a year and oak trees will withstand defoliation a time or two without suffering seriously and it is believed that in another year this pest will be brought under control naturally by its several parasites which are likewise increasing rapidly in numbers."

WALKS FLOOR IN PAIN Resinol Completely Heals Itching Disorder

"A while ago my leg got red, swollen, and itched terribly. Then it broke out in several places and the pain was intense. I was told varicose veins caused the trouble and I used all kinds of treatments without success. I walked the floor at night in pain. A friend told me he used Resinol Ointment, so I tried it. In two hours I had relief and after using two and one-half large jars, the leg was completely healed." (Signed —) Ernest Schmidt, Babylon, N. Y. At your druggist's. LEADING COMMON STOCKS RETURNING HIGHER YIELD NOW

Score Of Top Liners Average Return Of 5 1/2 Per Cent Since Last Break

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1936, by Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CFA)—A score of common stocks, the permanency of whose dividends is undisputed, showed an average income return Thursday of about 5 1/2 per cent. This compares with a yield of a little over 4 per cent for the same shares when the market was at its high level in April.

The return on an even larger group of stocks, about which there has been no question of ability to continue payments at the existing rate, has gone up relatively more. There are, in addition, many issues that are selling at returns based on possible dividend reductions that exceed their yields, measured by dividends paid when their quotations figured in the high average price of all stocks three months ago.

At the height of the market boom last September the average yield from dividends on a group of 50 industrials, rails and public utilities was well below 3 per cent. The smallest average return was that of the public utilities, which was less than 1 1/2 per cent.

PRICES TOO HIGH

This included a number of popular issues that had been advanced from 40 to 60 times earnings without producing a great deal in the way of cash return to their shareholders. Some paid 1 and 2 per cent, others nothing. The discrepancy between price and return, which has continued into this year, has been one of the causes of the recent heavy deflation in market values of power and light issues.

After the break in November, the same stocks that were yielding less than 3 per cent could have been bought to return better than 4 1/2 per cent. This change, to the advantage of the individual who is interested in securities primarily for their yield, influenced heavy investment buying and the withdrawal from the market in the next few months of the largest amount of stocks ever recorded in Wall Street history for a similar period.

The situation today, with respect to income yield on high grade stocks and on those that belong in the category of second grade issues, is not unlike that of last November. The rapid decline in prices of stocks with an unbroken dividend record for years has brought them back to where the investor is willing to buy them, after showing a strong prejudice against them when they were at their previous low income levels.

SIGN OF CHANGE

This is always one of the most certain signs of an approaching change in the course of a market that has been declining over a long period.

With the exception of the copper producing companies, there have been no important changes in dividend policies by corporations in spite of the long slump in business, which has had its effect in greatly reduced gross and net earnings. This is in contrast with other periods of extreme business depression and reflects the strong surplus position of American companies, built up out of the abnormal earnings of the last few years.

The July first dividend and interest payments are expected to show a total nearly as large as that of a year ago, for to date, dividends have been increased or initial dividends paid in greater numbers than dividends reduced or omitted. The record in the next quarter may not be so good, for then the effect of nearly a year of business reaction will be more positive.

Quite a few of the long established and widely held dividend paying stocks have improved their yield in the last three months more than the average yield increase. In fact, a conspicuous feature of the recent decline has been its violence in the so-called investment class of shares. Among these there are a large number that today could be purchased between a 5 per cent and a 6 per cent basis and, in exceptional cases, they return between 6 and 7 per cent. And this at a time when it is difficult to lend cash money at 2 1/2 per cent, and loans running for 60 to 90 days are quoted around 3 per cent, and to the end of this year at 3 1/2 per cent.

ILLINOI TAX CHANGES NOW UP TO VOTERS

Amendment To State Constitution Up For Referendum On Nov. 4

Springfield, Ill.—(C)—Revision of the Illinois taxing system now rests with the voters.

The proposed amendment to the state constitution's revenue article yesterday left all legislative barriers behind when the senate concurred in house amendments to the resolution directing a referendum at the general election Nov. 4 on the plan to modernize the Illinois fiscal system proposed by Gov. L. L. Emmerson.

The principal house amendment to the bill prohibits the legislature from passing any income tax law which would permit more than 15 per cent of the revenue collected to be retained by the house except by sanction of a two-thirds vote of both houses of the assembly.

After passing the revenue bill, the house gave its approval to the Strawn bills for the relief of Cook county taxing bodies including the measures allowing bond issues without a referendum. The 21 relief bills now go to the senate where they are expected to be taken up after the adjournment recess.

The house bills authorize bond issues of more than $100,000, most of which is to pay the back debts of Chicago, Cook and the Chicago Board of Education and the latter metropolitan park boards.

Don't hesitate to ask the cost

In making preparations for a funeral, some have not even considered the burial vault, feeling that the cost limited this form of protection to the very wealthy.

The fact is that the Buckstaff Burial Vault, which guarantees positive protection for the remains, is easily within the means of the average family. Ask us about it.

A fitting farewell to the one who has passed on—a comforting memory for those who remain—this is the double purpose of our service. With this in mind, we provide only the best in service, equipment and merchandise.

STATE DEPARTMENT CRITICIZED ABOUT GERMAN BOND ISSUE

Should Not Have Permitted Project To "Get By," Some Claim

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1936, by Cons. Press
Washington—(CFA)—Government officials and national legislators are watching with the closest attention the progress of the absorption of the new issue of German reparations bonds. There has been much opposition developed in certain Washington circles and in financial quarters in other parts of the country against sale of these bonds.

Members of congress have expressed a good deal of displeasure over the fact that this issue should have "gotten by" the state department. The state department did not approve the project but it did say that it had no objection to it.

Some congressmen say that it is a strange situation when the securities of a nation which owes as much money as Germany does, and which is still suffering from the effects of defeat in the greatest war in history, should be snapped up when the issues of American industrial corporations are going begging in some instances.

QUESTION AUTHORITY

A statement of the basis of the authority of the department of state "to approve or disapprove investment securities offered for sale in the money markets of the United States by foreign governments" is requested in a resolution which has just been adopted by the senate.

This resolution introduced by Senator Glass, also requests information as to the right of the state department to "direct the action of the federal reserve board or banks with respect to their lawful powers concerning the business of banking in foreign countries or the investment of these banks in foreign securities offered in the money markets of the United States."

Senator Glass declared that for the last two years it has been exceedingly difficult for states, for subdivision of states, and for others to float loans on the American market.

"The bond market," he said, "has been stupefied for that length of time and yet here the state department assumes the right to approve of a foreign loan which goes into the money market with the approval of the United States government and must compete with domestic

GOLF HARMFUL TO AVERAGE MAN, SAYS INSURANCE EXPERT

Update, Wash.—(C)—Golf is harmful in the opinion of Dr. William Muhlberg, Cincinnati, president of the Association of Life Insurance Medical Directors.

The average man who plays golf goes out to the course, dubs a shot, tears his hair, maybe throws his club away, and as a result increases his blood pressure," Dr. Muhlberg said in addressing a group of life insurance agents last night.

HOUSES BACK ISSUE?

They say that the strong houses behind the issue were an influential factor. Many investors got the idea that the loan was supported by the bank for international settlements. As a matter of fact, all that the bank for international settlements has to do with it is to act as trustee. Investment bankers point out that while the issue has been underwritten, it has not yet been placed entirely in the hands of ultimate holders, and this process is being closely watched.

Absorption of domestic investment issues has been very slow in the last six weeks. Retail demand was under normal and in May only $767,000,000 in new offerings were put out. This was a drop of about $130,000,000 from April. The issues best absorbed were those of the utilities, but the railroad, industrial and real estate issues were of comparatively small proportions. High grade bonds with specially attractive yields are moving in fair volume but the general improvement in reception of domestic issues which was anticipated has not materialized.

TEST COLLEGE WILL NOT CLOSE, CLAIM

Reports To Contrary Hurt Enrollment, Director Points Out

Madison—(AP)—Reports that the Experimental College at the University of Wisconsin would be discarded in the near future will cause a dangerous decrease in enrollment, Dr. Alexander Melikoff, director, said in his annual report to the faculty of the college of letters and science.

"Many of our own students have been troubled by the fear that they may not be given opportunity to complete their course in the college," the report said. "And if one may judge from correspondence and from newspaper and magazines, there is a general impression throughout the country that the college is very near its end."

It is of course one of the ironies of the situation that the spreading of such news is a power influence toward bringing about the end which it falsely proclaims.

"Nothing could be less alluring to a father, or a son, considering the choice of a college, than the impression that a given college is not sure even of its existence.

"In itself the word 'experimental' was a dangerous one from this point of view. But when there is added to this the 'news' that the authorities of the university are considering whether to abandon the college and, again, that in view of its failure, they have decided to bring it to an early end, the effect upon student enrollment be quite disastrous.

"We recognize that such experiences are fairly common in connection with experimental ventures which arouse public interest and yet the hard fact faces us that our enrollment is being cut down and that this cutting down may be dangerous, even fatal, to the project itself.

"If at any time and for any reason the university should think it advisable to discontinue the college, we should accept the decision in good spirit. But we understood that at present no such decision has been made. As we ourselves view the project, it is still in its preliminary stages."

BREAD

Your Grocers

The purer, the more nutritious and the more tasty a food item actually is, then the more healthy it becomes for everyone who eats it.

There, in a nutshell, is the secret to the success of Old Home Bread. It's a better bread, baked better by master bakers from natural, unbleached flour — free from chemicals. That, also, is why Old Home Bread stays fresher longer, retains its original flavor and is so good for you to eat. Have you tried Old Home bread yet? You owe yourself and your entire family this delight. Ask your grocer for a loaf tomorrow morning!

NO WONDER YOU FEEL SICK

When Constipation Gets Its Grip You Can't Keep Well.
What You Need Is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

That tired feeling, that persistent headache, that bad breath are often symptoms of constipation.

There is only one thing to do—clean out your system. Do it now or you may be seriously sick. Your intestines are clogged because you have not eaten enough roughage. And there is no better roughage than that healthful, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is a natural food that brings natural results regularly. Its fiber content sweeps the intestines clean of poisonous wastes. Much better than habit-forming pills which become useless unless their dose is increased.

In addition, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research has proved that practically all of this iron goes into the blood—bringing the glowing color of health to the complexion and strengthening the entire body. A wonderful way to enjoy keeping well!

You will like the nut-sweet flavor of ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey. By letting ALL-BRAN soak a few moments in milk or cream, its rich flavor is brought out.

Use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in making muffins and hot breads. Recipes on the package. Sprinkle it into soups, on salads. Mix it in scrambled eggs or meat loaf, add it to every diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Just eat two tablespoons daily—recurrent cases, with every meal. Sold by all grocers. Served in hotels, restaurants, on dining-cars. It is the original ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ALL-BRAN

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

Chapter 35
I SHOOK myself. That wouldn't do. I had not given the place a chance. If the cove had been the destination of the convicts their launch was out there somewhere. The wharf attracted me. I started along it, cautiously picking my way over the rotten planking. I moved with absolute quietness. The wharf was some 25 feet long. Several dilapidated sheds occupied the lower end of it. Suddenly I stopped. I had to stop. The wharf was broken in two. Where I now stood, some hundred feet from the beach, the piling had collapsed. A gap perhaps ten feet wide separated the two sections. It was impossible to get across the gap, except by swimming or boat. The lower half, where the sheds stood, formed a little island—a little fortress. Just then I saw a light. A mere thread of a light it was. In a twinkling it had gone. I becalmed deeply, gratefully. They were there and Caroline was with them. Not a shadow of a doubt lingered in my mind. How was I to get her away from them? As my eyes drilled into the darkness something heaved itself up, stood erect and became the figure of a man. I dropped, my heart in my throat. I supposed he was either Balafre or Bec; then I heard the faint dripping of his garments as he wrung them and I knew better. He would be Flaque or Samuels—the former I hoped. A breaker sloshed around the piling just then and he did not hear my low whistle. By the time the water had subsided, he had moved down the wharf and passed from sight. Shipping out of my shoes and overcoat, I let myself down over the edge of the wharf, which was some four feet above the water. Then I hooked my right arm around one of the piles and slid cautiously down it. I clung to a pile for an instant. The tide was ebbing fast. Letting go, I was swept along 25 feet or so, when I anchored myself to another pile—the one upon which the man had climbed. I thought, as several cross pieces were nailed upon it, forming a ladder. My hand was upon one of these cross pieces when I heard a voice. What it said I could not make out, but a penetrating metallic quality in its tone recalled to my mind the livid face of le Balafre. The voice was blown toward me through the piling from a point somewhere under the wharf and I listened. The gurgle of the water was all I heard, but I did see something. A barricade of planking was erected against two of the center piles in a flash what it was. The convicts had built an oblong enclosure large enough to give their launch secret harborage, or they had found some sort of an enclosure there and adapted it to their needs. The latter, probably. A carelessly erected barricade of rotting plank beneath a ruined wharf would not be apt to attract the attention of anyone putting casually into the cove. It was not unlikely, indeed, that they had broken the gap in the wharf to isolate themselves more effectively. Striking out for the barricade, I found finger and toe hold in the planking—as I had surmised, it had been thrown together with deliberate carelessness—and hoisted myself to the top, which was some two feet below the wharf. Inside the enclosure the launch I had expected to find, a powerful speedy-looking craft, swung at its moorings. A rectangle of light descended from a trap in the floor of the shed into the cockpit of the launch, which was empty. The light had made it possible to see the barricade, from bars driven into one of the piles gave access to the shed above. I learned afterwards that the launch and its crew had not used this subterranean approach to the wharf to facilitate their casual smuggling operations. As I dropped into the enclosure and clung to the side of the launch, I heard le Balafre's voice again. "You will tell us what we desire to know, mademoiselle." "How can I tell you when I don't know? I've told you so a hundred times! If Parados wasn't Lacote I don't know who Lacote is—where he is! Oh, my wrist! You are breaking it!" Caroline's voice frantic with terror! "If Parados wasn't Lacote! But he was Lacote! Nothing mattered except those devils... bringing Caroline here... hurting her. Something inside my head exploded in bloody flame. Two strokes brought me to the pile with the iron bars. Parados... not Lacote! "I shall break it for mademoiselle will not tell us!" "Oh, no, no, no!" "Cleron, you will take that other arm." "Do I not have it, mon ami?" A different voice, this one, but of the same wicked pitch. "Come, ma petite. It will be disagreeable, those broken arms." "Mademoiselle!" "I cannot! Oh, Allan, some one! My arm! Please!" "A little more, my Cleron, and she will open the heart. Come, mademoiselle..." I was not quite mad enough to be blind to the folly of what I was doing. As soon as my head appeared above the trap I'd get a bullet between my eyes. But I couldn't help it. A man can stand only so much of some things. As the top of my head reached the trap, the cross bar upon which my feet were set broke from the pile and I went down. My head struck the side of the launch and if I had not flung out my arm and clutched at the edge of the launch I should have gone down. I had come up on the other side of the craft. I began to haul myself aboard. I had one leg over the side when I noticed that the shed had become silent. Perhaps Caroline had fainted. I prayed that she had. A whisper floated down. "Overboard... ca fenetre la!" The window! Some one was there. The man I had seen, of course. I had forgotten him, but I had sense enough not to move. "Non, non!" Cleron Bec screamed suddenly. "Pas la fenetre la porte." A door was opening! That would be Flaque. It ought to be Flaque. He would glory in this ironic finish. "... A pistol cracked." "Ah... mon dieu!" The cry was strangled. "Mon Cleron... Lacote—Julius Lacote..." "Lacote," he had said. Lacote! Had I gone entirely mad? I was leaping to my feet when the falling body of a man struck my chest, almost pitching me overboard, and dropped in a huddle at my feet. It was le Balafre. A pistol was in his hand. He would not need it any more, I reflected, as I wrenched it out of his grasp. The other pistol barked again and Cleron Bec dropped at I stuck my head through the trap and saw him for the first time in the moment of his death. My eyes flew to Caroline, who was crouched on the floor against the north wall of the shed. I went numb with horror. A lantern swung from a nail, smoking a little. The oscillation of the lantern and its uneven yellow flame caused the agony in Caroline's face to beat like a pulse. She did not see me. Her head was turned away. "I'm sorry, Miss Brent, but I am afraid it will not be possible for me to let you live." As that voice fell upon my ears, I almost lost my footing in the launch. In a twinkling the various hints and items of information Flaque had conveyed to me during the past few days flew together like the parts of a magic puzzle, forming a perfect whole. "I suppose not," Caroline said. "You might as well finish the job." A touch of scorn was in her voice. "I'm not afraid of you." (Copyright, 1930, William Morrow and Company)

DOLLAR BUYS MORE TODAY THAN AT ANY TIME IN 13 YEARS
Commodity Prices About 7 Per Cent Lower Than Last July

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Washington (CPA)—More goods can be bought for a dollar today than at any time in the last 13 years. The cheap dollar is gradually finding its way into the background of the economic picture and the cost of living unquestionably is being reduced. This naturally means an increase in real wages, which reflect not alone what the worker gets but what he can buy for what he gets.

Commodity prices today in the United States are about 7 per cent below those that obtained last July, according to the federal reserve board. From July 1929 to April 1930, the decrease in this country was 7 per cent. This situation was paralleled by declines of 8 per cent in the cost of living in Germany, 10 per cent in Italy and 12 per cent in France. Japan and China also registered declines in prices of commodities.

The federal reserve board lays stress on the fact that price recessions of this character appear to be accompanied by a general slowing down of trade and industry throughout the world, for there has been a strong demand for credit from the American securities market.

BLAME MARKET BREAK
The more abrupt declines abroad, as well as at home, were in response to the break in the securities markets last fall, and the price decline this year, according to the board, reflects "the inactive condition of business and the loss of purchasing power by ultimate consumers through the decrease of employment and the reduction in wage payments."

The drop in commodity prices is not confined to any one country or any one class of goods, although the decline has been strikingly different in the course of prices of different groups of commodities and individual commodities, reflecting conditions in particular industries. Although, as the board points out, this decline may have been due to inactivity in business and loss of employment, the fact remains that individual consumers and industry consumers are able today to buy more for their money than they have for many years.

It would seem obvious, according to statisticians, that, once the psychological effect of the decline is passed, these lower prices will stimulate consumption and volume of buying. According to the board, the downward trend of prices in agriculture commodities has been fairly well balanced.

MEATS OFFSET WHEAT
Rising prices of livestock and meats over a term of years have offset the lower prices of wheat and cotton. Raw material imports to this country have shown decided drops and this, of course, has cut down the buying power of nations producing such commodities. This is especially true of sugar, coffee, silk and rubber.

The federal reserve board explains that fluctuations in commodity prices can be explained only with reference to a large number of circumstances which affect individual products. In raw materials the principal cause of price fluctuation has been the difficulty of adjusting supply to demand, while in manufacturing goods the trend has been due to low material costs and economies in production.

The chief effect of this trend, according to distributors, has been to place emphasis on real values and their purchasing value. This is true all over the world, whether wages are expressed in terms of dollars, marks, francs or pounds. Measured on such a basis, the decline undoubtedly has its economic value and affects especially the position of the farmer, who can buy more for the money he gets for his crops than he has been able to secure in a good many years.

GREEK CLASSICAL LINES TAKE PARIS

Patterns Such As "Walls Of Troy" And Greek Key Found On Skirts

BY AILEEN LAMONT
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)
New York (CPA)—There are more and more indications that the Greek classical lines are capturing Paris. Though the wide skirts of the 1830 epoch persist many of the evening gowns are not only constructed on classical lines but decorated with such classical patterns in embroidery as "Walls of Troy" and the Greek key.

There are bows at the neck and cuffs of the new shirtwaists. Call it a blouse, if you like, the fact remains that it is the old shirtwaist of blessed memory, slightly reimagined. Often it is of satin, just as often it is used to be, and—no longer—is now smarter when worn tucked inside the skirt than when flapping outside. I tell you, too, Oh

More Anglers Joining Quest For Northern Pike

BY E. A. CLAFLIN

With the present perfection in bait casting rods and lures and the rapidly declining old school of trout fishermen, more anglers are yearly taking to the quest for Northern pike, walleyes and bass. For those of us who have learned the art of fly fishing for trout and who have sought them in the days when they were plentiful, it is not easy to forsake the rushing streams and turn to bait casting for the denizens of the lakes and quiet rivers.

And yet, this form of angling affords one a peculiar pleasure. The fish are larger, perhaps more voracious in striking than the trout and certainly their quest does not entail anywhere near the amount of hard work attendant upon wading a trout stream. For the angler who fishes chiefly for the sport of catching fish, I'll venture to say that, no matter how devoted he may be to whipping a trout stream, could he have accompanied us last week-end to the Peshtigo river and hooked and played the big Northern pike that we did, he, too, would have had the thrill of a lifetime.

A great many fishermen know of and visit Caldron Falls. It is a good locality for the big pike, but not many, in comparison, have fished the three mile stretch of the river between the "old farm dam" at the head of Roaring Rapids and the fast water about a mile above where the Rat river enters.

At various places old, half-submerged stumps and tree stubs afford ideal lurking places for the big cannibals. An exceptionally good spot is the mouth of the Otter Creek. We rowed up this as far as we could go by boat. The water is deep and fairly fast. The pike lie about at intervals in the deep holes, alert for anything in the way of food that moves. We caught them on various offerings, but the most effective lure, for that day, at least and the one which took the biggest fish was red and white—one with lifelike action. The fish seemed to be every where. Even well out from the shores and near the channel, wherever old tree butts stood, we found them.

The Northern pike is a close second to the lightning-fast trout in his rapidity of striking. The instant our lures hit the water, if there was a fish in the neighborhood, he had it. Sometimes they broke entirely above the surface and when they started a run, it required fast work on our parts to keep them from fouling the line in the nearest snag.

Just outside the mouth of the Rat river we landed several big ones. At intervals on the way up to the rapids we picked them up. Just below the falls, in the setback of the current along the shores we found them plentiful and hungry. The water was high from a recent heavy rain, yet we enjoyed fine sport in spite of it. In the stretch I have described the pike are plentiful. We had the only boat available, which no doubt accounts for the splendid fishing we found. Therefore, to avoid possible disappointment, anyone planning to go there should take a boat with him.
